SCOTTISH LETTER.

ARE SCOTSMEN MEAN?

AN ADVERTISING STUNT

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

EDINBURGH, December 9th.
It is soothing to a malignant nation to see Arnold Bennett denying in a Sunday Pictorial article that Scotsmen are really mean. He regards the libellous label as an ingenious method of advertising ourselves for nothing, and, though he himself protests against the use of the label, he admits that it will stick for ever. In every respect we agree with the novelist. The legend about our meanness is sound advertising, and we would be disobeying one of the principal articles in the creed of publicity if we did not encourage it ourselves. It was a Lord Northcliffe dictum that the best advertising lay in being talked about; it did not matter whether you were reviled or praised, so long as someone said something about you. Henry Ford was never angry at Ford car jokes; he encouraged them by publishing the latest ones regularly in a monthly periodical emanating from the Detroit works. Harry Lauder never denies the personal libel of parsimony; he is always ready to stress to an interviewer the popular conception of himself, because he knows the value of such advertising. That is also why the best Aberdeen stories are coined in the Granite City. As a nation we collect the results of such advertising daily. Before the echo of the Premier's St. Andrew's Night words praising our frugality has died down, Arnold Bennett says: "flattering things about us—and as the good work goes on. Should we not be really sorry if the meanness libel against us were silenced for ever? Ireland has done its best to kill the absurdity of the stage Irishman. Wigan has done its utmost to destroy the music-hall jokes that rises above that place. But have we not a shrewdness that rises above travesty? We know quite well that the Scottish regard for the bawbees is magnified out of all proportion. But we know that there is a modicum of truth in the libel, and we further know the wonderful publicity qualities that lie in exaggeration. So, let them say."

A GREAT CURLING BONSPIEL.
"A' the hills are covered wi' snaw, Winter's noo come fairly."
And all the lochs are covered with ice and skaters and curlers are holding the great open air carnival of the winter season. Curling bonspiels are being played all over Scotland, and so severe has been the frost that the great national match between the North of Scotland and the South was played on Carlsberg Loch in Perthshire for the first time in thirteen years, and the contest resulted in a win for the North by 223 shots. All classes and all ages took part in the bonspiel: the average years of the players in one of the Dundee rinks was 68,—there is no age limit for a curler. Not being an all-season sport curling attracts sportsmen from many other games. On the ice there was seen Mr. J. M. Dykes, of the Scottish Rugby Union; Messrs Gordon Lockhart and Joe Anderson, of golf fame; and many figures familiar in other fields of sport. Baillie Robin Welsh, the president of the Scottish Rugby Union, who is one of the keenest of the Edinburgh curlers, was ably assisted in his rink by Mrs. Welsh, the latter exhibiting quite as much skill in propelling the stones over the ice as she is accustomed to show in sending tennis balls over the net. Several other ladies took part in the play, and although the granite stones are not by any means light, they wielded them with more apparent ease than the men. The skips were not quite easy about the women—it was difficult to be frank with them after the manner in which they shouted orders, praise, or blame to the male members of their rinks. As is customary at these gatherings, many clergymen took part, and were among the most enthusiastic players. After watching one perspiring wearer of the cloth for a few minutes a spectator remarked:—"It's the first time I've ever seen a minister with his coat off." Nearly everyone had a halmoral, but it rather marred the proprieties to see that Highland bonnet worn along with plus fours and a highly coloured woollen pullover. The Atholl rinks came in tartan trews, red-tubed jackets and diced bonnets, and the Macraes Club in brilliant tartan waistcoats.

AN OLD SCOTTISH MYSTERY.
The Society wedding of the month, that of Lord Balmoral and Lady Mary Cavendish, recalls a tremendous sensation of the early eighties—the sacrilegious entering of the mausoleum at Dunecht, near Aberdeen, and the stealing of the body of the Earl of Crawford and Balcarres, great-grandfather of the bridegroom. On a bleak December morning forty-four years ago an estate worker observed that a slab over the staircase leading to the vault had been removed. Police officers sent to investigate made the shocking discovery. On descending the stair they found that not only had the coffin of the Earl been rudely hauled from the recess on which it had lain for exactly a year, but that its body had vanished from the vault. During the subsequent search for the vandals who had stolen it, controversy raged, of course, as to the motives for the ghastly deed. Some suggested revenge—a theory quickly discounted, however, as the Earl had been a model landlord; others suggested that the thieves were simply cut to get a ransom from the relatives for the return of the body, while not a few scented dark romance from the fact that the Earl had died in Italy and that his body had been embalmed by a Florentine physician.

Curiously enough, this last theory received some substantiation from an Aberdeen caddy, who informed the police that a month or two before the discovery he had taken two dark-eyed, Italian-looking gents to and from Dunecht, and that they had questioned him about the mansion and the vault. But, alas for romance! Some months later the Earl's body, rolled in a blanket, was found in a hedge-hole near the house, and suspicion fell, not on any dark-eyed stranger, but on a local vermin-killer named Soutar. Soutar admitted having written anonymous letters about the outrage, but strenuously denied being the perpetrator. He was found guilty, nevertheless, and sentenced to five years, at the end of which time he nonchalantly returned to his vermin-killing, dying recently at a ripe old age.

A BARRIE LOVE LETTER.
Miss Haldane has written a book about her mother that well-known Scotswoman, Mrs. Haldane of Cloan, who died a few months ago in her hundredth year, and among the many good things in the volume perhaps the gem is Sir James Barrie's self-described "love letter." He had visited Mrs. Haldane in 1924, and he afterwards wrote to her as follows:—"Dear Mrs. Haldane, You have a 'personality' if ever any one had. I never thought to see the day when I could be in a house with the Lord Chancellor without thinking him the dominant figure (and Miss Haldane is pretty good at personality also), but I tell you plain you bow them over. I believe I went a drive with her and a walk with him, but you swallowed them up (Aaron's rod); and in my memory Cloan consists of you. I see you vividly knitting that shawl (to which my compliments) and looking the dearest person I have seen for years and years. You really do make the intruder into that serene room feel more hopeful about the world. Some of the loveliest lines in English poetry are very like you. It would not be bad to call you an ode to immortality. Of course, I am using strong language, but this is frankly a love letter. I know a great deal more about your son now. I know, for instance, who is his 'spiritual home.' My love to all at Cloan, and 'graters,' as the schoolboys say, to myself for having been there."

EARL HAIG AND FREEMASONRY.
Bro. Field-Marshal the Right Hon. the Earl Haig, K.T., has been installed Right Worshipful Master of Elgin's Lodge at Leven, No. 91. The lodge is a venerable one, having been founded so long ago as 1763, and in accepting office as its Master, Earl Haig is following in the foot-steps of his father, the late Mr. John Haig, of Cameron Bridge, and of his brother, the late Mr. Hugh Veitch Haig, of Ramornie. Earl Haig was initiated in the lodge a good many years ago, but the fulfilment of his military and other duties prevented his completing his degrees until February of last year. The installation ceremony was performed by Bro. the Right Hon. the Earl of Elgin and Kinross, G.M. of Past Grand Master Mason of Scotland, Provincial Grand Master of Elgin and Kinross.

A CURLING STORY.
Here is a tale of curlers that comes from Castle-Douglas with the statement that it bears the hall-mark of truth. The lads of the village were having a day on the ice and had made arrangements with a local baker to send them up a big steak pie for their mid-day meal. The pie duly arrived—a noble specimen, and very hot. The fun was fast and furious just then, and a stoppage of play was not to be thought of. One of the skips told the messenger to "put the pie at the edge of the pond and cover it with coats to keep it hot." When the curlers had finished their game they gathered round the pile of coats. On raising them no pie was seen—but there was a nice clean hole in the ice (which was very thin at that part) exactly the shape of the pie-dish. And then it was the roarin' game indeed.

SAFEGUARDING INDUSTRIES.

NO PROTECTION FOR STEEL AND IRON.

PREMIER AND TARIFF PLEDGE.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Baldwin, stated in the House of Commons last month that the application of the iron and steel trades for the appointment of a committee under the Safeguarding of Industries procedure was referred to the Committee on Civil Research, and its report had been received by the Cabinet. The committee had heard a large number of witnesses, representing both the employers and the employees engaged in the iron and steel allied trades. The evidence showed that foreign competition, aided by long hours and low wages and depreciated currency, had been severely felt by the manufacturers, and had the Government been able to deal with the iron and steel industry in isolation they might have regarded the case for an enquiry as complete.

It became clear, however, in the course of these investigations that the safeguarding of basic industries of this magnitude would have a repercussion of a far wider character which might be held to be in conflict with the Government's declaration in regard to a general tariff.

In all the circumstances the Government had come to the conclusion that the application could not be granted, although the Government would keep this industry under close observation with a view to promoting its well-being.

A DEAL IN SILK.

MATERIAL WHICH WAS NOT OF RIGHT WIDTH.

At the Summary Court yesterday, before Mr. Justice Wood, the Kwong Wah & Co., of 37, Wing On Street, were plaintiffs in an action against P. M. Pinquet & Co., of 17, Queen's Road Central.

Mr. E. S. C. Brooks (Messrs. Hastings, Denny & Bowley) was for plaintiffs, and Mr. Vaux (Messrs. Wilkinson & Grist) represented defendants.

Plaintiffs alleged that the defendants had committed a breach of contract in the sale of ten pieces of artificial silk, delivered to them for $801.93. Plaintiffs rejected the material because it did not comply with the stipulation in the contract as to the width of the pieces. The width should have been 28 inches. They therefore held that the material was unsaleable, and claimed $661.23, the amount paid to defendants.

For the defence it was stated that out of the ten pieces supplied, six pieces were 28 inches to 30 inches wide. It was admitted that the remaining pieces were not so wide. The defence also complained that the plaintiffs unrolled all the pieces and returned them, without giving any reason for doing so. It was also argued that when plaintiffs found that some of the pieces were of no use, they should have informed the defendants, and have left the other pieces untouched.

Finally, Mr. Vaux argued for the defence that the material was such as to make it almost impossible for even an expert to measure it accurately. It was also held that after much handling the material would shrink and consequently the width would be decreased. Samples of the silk were affixed to the writ. The hearing was adjourned until to-day, when the silk will be brought to Court and measured.

SEQUEL TO PEAK THEFT.

TELEPHONE CO. WORKMAN SENT TO GAOL.

The sequel to the disappearance of a diamond ring valued at $300, the property of Mrs. G. Arthur, from her residence No. 37, The Peak, recently, was heard at the Central Magistracy yesterday, before Mr. R. E. Lindell, when a workman was sent to prison for six months with hard labour.

Two men, both employees of the Telephone Co., were charged with the theft of the ring and alternatively with receiving the article knowing it to have been unlawfully obtained.

Sub-Detective Inspector Shaftain, who prosecuted, said the first defendant had pleaded guilty to possession of the ring, but the evidence to prove the charge of theft was very weak. It was known that the defendants were detailed for duty in effecting repairs to Mrs. Arthur's telephone on the 18th inst., and it was supposed the theft was committed then. A second ring valued at $150 was also stolen.

The men were arrested following information received by the Detective Department, but in the meantime the ring was turned over to the second defendant who had pawned it through the medium of a woman, the principal tenant of a flat he visited.

This woman told the Magistrate that although doubtful of accepting the ring she did so on being told by defendant that it was a ring worn by his sister. She then consented to pawn it for him. She was paid $2 for her share in pawn depositing of the ring, which was pawned for $300.

Mrs. Arthur said that she missed the ring only two days ago. The last time she saw it was ten days ago. She could not say whether second defendant was in the house on the day in question.

His Worship found that there was not sufficient evidence to convict the second man, and he discharged him. First defendant was sentenced to six months' imprisonment as he had pleaded guilty.

Sub-Detective Inspector Shaftain asked if his Worship would make any order in regard to the ring.

His Worship said that there was no evidence of bad faith against the pawnbroker, as it was quite customary for Chinese to send their amahs to the pawnbrokers. Otherwise he could have made an order for the ring to be returned to Mrs. Arthur without payment or on such terms as he might have thought fit to make. As it was, he could only order the ring to be returned on payment of the principal, without any interest.

SAIGON RICE MARKET.

The Compagnie de Commerce et de Navigation d'Extreme-Orient of Saigon in their latest circular say:—

Since our last report prices have dropped especially for prompt shipment. Some sales of No. 1 and 2 white Saigon rice have been made to Shanghai for January-February shipment. This is practically no demand from the other Far Eastern markets or from Europe.

The supply of paddy is regular but not very abundant up to the present. The total amount of rice expected from January 1st to December 31st, 1925, is 1,420,372,835 tons against 1,192,703 in 1924.

We quote to-day white Saigon rice No. 1 25% broken round grain: Hongkong $3.60, per picul of 134 lbs., f.o.b. Saigon; $2.13.2, per cwt. f.o.b. Saigon; yen 8.80, per picul of 134 lbs., f.o.b. Saigon.

White Saigon rice No. 2 sifted Japan quality: Hongkong $3.40, per picul of 134 lbs., f.o.b. Saigon; $2.12.10, per cwt., f.o.b. Saigon; yen 8.65, per picul of 134 lbs., f.o.b. Saigon.

For January-February shipment.

THE QUEEN'S THEATRE.

Predecessors to the Texas Rangers and the Canadian North-west Mounted Police were the Robin Red Breasts, or Scarlet Vests whose headquarters was in Bow Street, London, in the early part of the Eighteenth Century. Their was the task of chasing the bold bandits who infested the roads leading to York and London. In "Dick Turpin," which comes to the Queen's Theatre, Tom Mix has the role of Turpin and his famous band of cowboys are the "Scarlet Vests." Scowling Sid Jordan, as Sergeant of the Runners, has many an encounter with "Dick" and poor Sid winds up a bit better than usual, for he does manage to capture his quarry. In the seven years he has been pursuing Tom Mix in "Westerns" he never scored a win.

The thirty-seventh report of the Board of Directors states:

The Directors have now to submit to you a general statement of the affairs of the Company, and balance sheet for the year ending 31st December, 1925.

The net profit for the year, after providing for all Directors' and Auditors' fees, amount to $1,043,018.15 which with the amount brought forward from last year $773,124.38 gives an amount available for division of $1,816,142.53.

From this amount an interim dividend of $2 per share on 240,000 shares ($480,000) has already been paid, leaving a balance of $1,336,142.53 available for appropriation which it is proposed to deal with as follows:—

To pay a final dividend of $2 per share	$480,000.00
To pay a bonus to staff	8,000.00
To carry forward to a new profit and loss account	$48,142.53
	$1,336,142.53

Directors.—Mr. A. H. Compton and Sir Robert Ho Tung now retire by rotation and being eligible offer themselves for re-election.

Auditors.—The accounts have been audited by Messrs. Percy Smith, Seth & Fleming, and Messrs. Linstead & Davis who now retire and offer themselves for re-election.

Chairman.

HONGKONG IMPORTS.

BUSINESS STAGNANT.

The following extracts are made from the fortnightly "Price Current" and Market Report, published by the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce:

Cotton Piece Goods and Fancy Cotton Goods.—The market remains virtually unchanged with little or no new business in either Greys, Whites or Fancies. Both descriptions of cotton show an upward tendency. Latest quotations to hand from Liverpool are those of 14th instant, i.e., Mid. Am. 10.80 "Spot," Eg. Sakel 18.55d. latter an advance of over 2d. per pound on lowest point touched on December 23rd, 1925.

Cotton Yarn.—The situation is practically unchanged, and dealers are still holding aloof from the market. Nominal quotations are:—No. 10s $176/125, No. 12s $190/105, No. 16s $205/210, No. 20s $210/215. Arrivals 600 bales. Shipment 210/215. Sales nil. Unsold stock 4,500 bales. Bargains 3,600 bales.

Woolens.—Nothing to report.

Raw Cotton.—No sales to report.

Metals.—Spot business stagnant, with few enquiries forward.

Flour Market Report.—Stock: About 350,000 sacks. Quotations: American Patent, $4.35 per sack; American Cut off, $3.60 per sack; Shanghai Flour, $3.55 per sack; Australian No. 1, $3.60 per sack; Canadian Cut off, $3.20 per sack. Market easier on account of smaller demand from outports.

Sugar.—Market very quiet.

Saltetre.—Market remains very dull since last report.

KIDNAPPING CASES.

A CHINESE WOMAN CONVICTED.

A Chinese woman was charged before Mr. F. W. Hamilton at Kowloon yesterday, with kidnapping a 12-year-old girl, and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment with hard labour. It was stated that defendant took the girl from Portland Street to Tsun Wan, where she tried to sell her.

CHARGES AGAINST FOUR MEN.

Four men appeared before Mr. Hamilton in the afternoon on a charge of kidnapping a small boy. One of the men was charged with being concerned in the kidnapping of four other boys. The case against this man was proceeded with, while the charges against the others were put back.

Inspector W. Pincott, who prosecuted, said that on the 8th inst., about 7 o'clock in the evening, four boys who were in Parkes Street were taken by the defendant to a house in Mongkok. On their way to the house they were taken to a barber shop and had their hair trimmed. One of the boys managed to escape, but the other three were taken to Macao. Clothes were bought for them, and on the day of their arrival in Macao a man and his wife came to the house where they were kept, but because of the high price demanded, refused to make a purchase.

The house where they were kept was raided by the Macao Police, and prisoner was arrested.

His Worship adjourned the case until this morning.

S.S. "BELGENLAND."

WORLD TOURISTS ARRIVE HERE TO-DAY.

The second of the tourist vessels to arrive in Hongkong this season is due here early this morning—the s.s. Belgenland, the Red Star liner, which carries a large party under the aegis of the American Express Company.

The vessel (27,200 tons gross) is carrying on this cruise more than 400 passengers. It is stated that not a passenger of the 475 brought to China by the Belgenland last winter departed without making substantial purchases of silk, carvings, furniture, curios, jewellery and other Chinese goods, and it is not anticipated that this winter's party on the Belgenland will be less liberal buyers than her passengers of last winter.

The ship, herself, is an oil burner of 687 feet in length and 73 feet in breadth, and is engaged in the summer Trans-Atlantic travel between New York and Europe. She is an international ship in the broadest sense. Designed and built at Belfast (completed in 1923), the Belgenland is owned by American stockholders of the International Mercantile Marine Company with headquarters in New York, and is operated by the Red Star Line, the principal steamship organization operating between the United States and Belgium. She flies the British flag but her home port is Antwerp and she is managed from New York.

The Belgenland's commander, Captain John Bradshaw is an American citizen, officers are chiefly English and her stewards and chiefs are English or Belgian. She carries a total crew of 501 persons, of whom 40 are women, including stewardesses, hairdressers, nurses, maids and laundresses. Two surgeons and a dentist, a physical director in charge of the gymnasium, a cruise director and his staff of 15 men, a master of ceremonies, an educational director and lecturer, two pursers, two bandmasters, an editor for the ship's daily paper, three printers and a minister of the gospel are also included in the ship's personnel. The kitchen and dining-room staff total 325 men.

In her deck arrangement the ship is ideal for cruising. Her promenade deck is enclosed with panels of glass that can be readily lowered to a point permitting a clear view of the sea from one's stateroom chair, the space available for chairs being unusually broad. At night this deck is frequently used as a ball-room, and when decorated with multi-coloured electric globes and flags, presents a charming appearance. A feature of the upper deck is a space for sports, of generous proportions, where deck tennis, golf, shuffle board and other games are played.

Other features of the vessel relating directly to recreation are as follows:—Two large and well equipped gymnasiums, an indoor swimming pool, with Turkish bath attached and two outdoor pools, the largest on any ship. Three verandah cafes, available for refreshment, table games or dancing. A Japanese tea garden for dining or dancing.

In her public rooms the ship presents an appeal of varied tastes. Forward on the promenade deck is a drawing room for restful quiet fitted with wide armed easy chairs, and having an open hearth.

THE "SOCIAL CENTRE"

In the centre of the ship is the lounge extending from side to side. It has wide bay windows, a big fireplace, a library, recesses for writing, broad sofas and many comfortable chairs and tables for games. This is the social centre of the ship, a most livable, attractive apartment. A few steps beyond the lounge is the smoking room. It is a hall in size and of strong individuality. The walls are paneled in richly tinted cedar in old English and a fireplace with firebricks of fretted brass. The rich colouring of the wood paneling in this room is an admirable background for lighting scenes of old silver that ornament the walls. Beyond this smoking room is a well furnished verandah, an airy though sheltered room with green latticed walls.

Below the main deck are two of the largest apartments in the ship, the restaurant and the reception rooms. Next forward of the restaurant and separated from it by a specially designed glass screen of small panes as clear as crystal (the only one of its kind on a ship) is another apartment which, like the restaurant, extends the full width of the ship and of generous length. This is the reception hall or ball room, designed for the comfort and pleasure of those who like conversation, a cigarette, a concert or dancing after dinner.

Practically all the staterooms on "B" deck are intercommunicating. No less than 32 have private baths, and 8 have private sitting rooms as well. Of the total suites on the ship it has private sitting rooms. There are also several suites that have combination or convertible sitting rooms and bedrooms. The walls and ceilings of all staterooms are finished in lustrous white enamel, which, with hangings in rose and other soft colours, give a light and cheerful effect. Practically all the staterooms are fitted with beds of special design and construction of mahogany or other fine woods.

This will be the home of the 400 or more tourists on board for over four months while they are completely crisscrossing the globe under the most luxurious conditions, and we can only hope that they may be favoured by our usual good weather during their sojourn in Hongkong so that they may enjoy to the full extent the magnificent and beautiful sights which our Colony can offer.

During her stay in Hongkong the tourists will visit the numerous places of interest. The passengers have been split up into four groups, who in turn will visit the Peak, New Territories and Macao. The vessel will leave Hongkong on Monday at 5 o'clock.

KENNEDY ROAD COLLAPSE.

CORONER'S INQUEST ON COOLIES WHO WERE KILLED.

On December 30th six coolies were buried by a fall of earth and stone from a slope on which they had been working behind a house in course of erection at Kennedy Road. Four of the coolies were killed as a result of the collapse and the other two were injured.

Yesterday afternoon at the Central Magistracy Mr. R. E. Lindell, sitting as Coroner, continued the inquest on the men killed.

The members of the jury were Messrs. E. O. Gneffe, J. A. Borget and R. Ley. Mr. E. F. R. Sample, who gave technical evidence at the previous hearing, was recalled and questioned by the Coroner.

The Coroner: While this cut was being made prior to the collapse do you consider the actual digging was properly done?—Witness: Yes I do. It had not been I should have told them so.

There was no under-cutting?—I did not see any.

The Coroner: When I visited the scene with the jury on the afternoon of the 18th there was a certain amount of under-cutting going on, as a result of which the Public Works Department representative stopped the work on the cut. Did you see any signs of under-cutting prior to the collapse?—No.

Do you consider that since the collapse the cut has been made perfectly safe?—I do.

Another witness said he was the actual sub-contractor, but sublet the contract to the sub-contractor who had already given evidence. He gave this sub-contractor definite instructions as to how the cut was to be made and how to carry out the work. Witness was there on the morning of the collapse, leaving the place at 1 p.m. He supervised the work being done there every day, and at the time he was satisfied that the cut was being dug properly and was safe. He was not there when the collapse occurred. He had been engaged in this class of work for a matter of twenty years and had never known of such a collapse before. He could offer no opinion as to how the collapse occurred.

He saw no under-cutting at any time and had seen none since the collapse. Mr. R. S. W. Patterson, engineer, of the Buildings Ordinance Office, Public Works Department, said it was part of his duties to inspect new buildings under construction. The site of the new building in course of erection West of No. 24, Kennedy Road, did not come under his notice prior to the collapse. Mr. Wadmore was the overseer in charge and would have inspected this building and site.

The first time witness visited the site was on the afternoon of the collapse. He made a careful examination of the place and from his examination he formed an opinion as to what might have caused the collapse. It was purely supposition, but he thought it probable that the working at the foot of the embankment might have caused a certain movement just above it and, as Mr. Sample had said at the previous hearing, slightly loosened a boulder which ultimately caused the slide.

The Coroner: Do you consider the making of this cut at an angle of 22 or 23 degrees was safe?—Taking into consideration the nature of the soil there, I do, your Worship.

In reply to another question, witness said there was the possibility that work at the foot of the slope might have loosened it with under-cutting. Witness said further along from the slope where the collapse took place he thought, when he saw it at the time of the collapse, that the cutting was being made too steep. As to the cutting which actually slipped he had no reason to think that it was cut too steep.

The Coroner: When you speak of another part of the cut where it did not collapse did you notice it that afternoon?—Yes. It appeared to be taken down too steep.

Was that to the West of the slide?—Yes. I thought it had been carried down at approximately 5 to 7 degrees off the perpendicular.

Mr. Sample (through the Coroner) asked if the steep angle referred to had not been shored up since Mr. Patterson's visit on the occasion of the collapse.

Witness: I have only visited the scene of the collapse on one occasion since it occurred and that was two days ago with your Worship and the jury. On that occasion there was no shoring. To make it fair to Mr. Sample, however, the contour of the cut at the place when I visited it was entirely different to the contour on the first occasion when I saw it. There was not the same overhanging or surcharge on the second visit.

The Coroner: Then the cut at this point has been made safer in the interval?

Witness: In my opinion yes.

Mr. Sample: I think the part Mr. Patterson refers to was shored up, but was subsequently taken down in order to start cutting at the top. I ordered it to be shored up on the day of the collapse and I have been there nearly every day since.

The Coroner said he had no reason to doubt but that it had been shored up if Mr. Sample said so.

The Coroner said he would like to have Mr. A. E. Wright (Engineer in charge of the Buildings Ordinance Office) and the Overseer called. He therefore adjourned the enquiry until to-morrow afternoon.

WHAT THE TOURISTS WILL EAT.

The following list of provisions which have been ordered in advance for delivery to the ship when she arrives here, may interest some people:—10,000 lbs. beef, 300 lbs. calves' liver, 1,500 lbs. mutton, 800 lbs. ox liver, 1,000 lbs. pork, 1,000 lbs. sausages, 1,000 lbs. veal, 500 lbs. corned ox tongue, 500 lbs. corned shoulders, 1,200 lbs. bacon, 500 lbs. ham, 1,000 lbs. butter, 300 lbs. calves' feet, 60 lbs. calves' heads, 600 lbs. ox tails, 1,000 calves' breads, 500 boiling fowls and other provisions.

SUPREME COURT.

ALLEGED WRONGFUL POSSESSION OF LIGHTER.

LEGAL ARGUMENTS ON A LIEN.

Before Sir Henry Gollan, the Chief Justice, at the Supreme Court yesterday, Chan Yuk Chuen was plaintiff in an action against Kwong Fook, of the King Ku Slipway, for wrongful conversion of a lighter.

Mr. F. C. Jenkin (instructed by Messrs. Johnson, Stokes & Masters) was for plaintiff, and Mr. C. G. Alabaster, K.C. (instructed by Mr. C. A. S. Russ) was for the defendants.

Mr. Jenkin said that it was a claim by plaintiff, owing to the wrongful conversion of a lighter which was his property. Plaintiff had been at all material times the owner of the Chuen On lighter, which he purchased in April, 1923, for $2,100. Soon afterwards he hired the lighter to the Po On Lighter Co. at the rate of $100 per month. Hiring began on April 16th, 1923. Sometime in April, 1924, the Po On handed the lighter to the defendants, who were shipwrights, for the purpose of repairing and strengthening the boat in order that stones may be carried. Defendants did the work.

His Lordship: Was that with the knowledge of plaintiff?

Mr. Jenkin: It would be contemplated by him though he did not know at the time, that a lien against the Po On would be a lien against him.

Continuing, Mr. Jenkin said, that the bill for repairs was in the neighbourhood of $2,600. The Po On Co. paid on account $1,200 leaving a balance of $1,400. The Po On were then unable to continue hiring the lighter, so they could not pay the balance. Defendants set a lien on the lighter, and started an action against the Po On for the balance of the account. The writ was dated June 4th, 1924, and on June 6th correspondence began between the owner, plaintiff, and the defendants. Plaintiff's solicitor realized that the lien was against plaintiff, and suggested negotiations for settlement of the bill. No settlement was reached, but the defendants clearly knew in June, 1924, that the plaintiff was the owner of the lighter.

The next thing was that the defendants obtained judgment against the Po On Co. for $1,413 and costs, the writ being executed on July 5th for the seizure and sale of the property of the defendants, the Po On Co.

THEIR OWN COIN.

The bailiffs went to the shipyard and the defendants in this case, pointed out the lighter, which they knew at the time was not the property of the Po On Co. The lighter was thereupon seized and later sold by Messrs. Hughes & Hough for $238.50, the purchase being the Slipway Co. themselves. The money was paid into Court and paid out to the Slipway Co.; they were paid back in their own coin.

Continuing, Mr. Jenkin argued that the conversion which took place on July 5th destroyed the lien. The defence, he said, was an assertion and a reiteration of the right to hold the lighter by reason of the existence of the lien. The lien of the shipwright for work done was indubitable, but, of course, it would be lost by the loss of possession, and he also lost it by wrongful sale of the property. Subsequent recovery of possession could alone reinvest the lien, for once the lien was gone it was gone.

Mr. Jenkin then quoted cases at length. Concluding, he said that the lighter had been valued by plaintiff at $3,000.

PLAINTIFF'S EVIDENCE.

Chan Yuk Chuen, of 22, Wing On Street, the plaintiff, said that he was the registered owner of the lighter. He bought it in April, 1923, for $2,100, and then hired it out for $100 per month to the Po On Co. It was stipulated that during the hiring they were to do any necessary repairs. They gave up the hiring in April, 1924, when the lighter was with the Slipway Co., the defendants. He (plaintiff) wrote to them requesting the return of the lighter, and the defendants replied that before releasing it, the balance of the amount due for repairs should be paid. Negotiations then took place with reference to settling the amount of the bill. Two men negotiated on his (plaintiff's) behalf. However, no settlement was arrived at. He later ascertained that the lighter had been sold. He did not have the lighter back, nor did the defendants pay him anything in the way of compensation. He valued the lighter at $3,000, and had bought it solely for hiring it out.

Cross-examined by Mr. Alabaster, he said that he traded in piece goods for 15 years. He knew a partner of the Po On firm, but he was no relation of his. He was the landlord of the business premises. He agreed that he did not get a licence for the lighter, until several months after he had bought it. He denied that he had agreed with the Po On Co. that in the case of repairs being needed, he would pay for them. Neither did they act as his agents in sending the lighter to be repaired.

Mr. Alabaster: And you wanted $100 a month for the privilege of having the lighter in dock?—During the time it was in dock no hiring fee was paid.

It was under repairs since the day you let it—I don't know.

Tam Fook, a friend of plaintiff's, who had been one of the negotiators for the settlement referred to, said that he saw Lu Wei, a partner of the defendant, and he promised to communicate with the plaintiff. No communication had been received.

The Court bailiff gave evidence of seizing the vessel.

This closed the plaintiff's case.

THE DEFENCE.

Mr. Alabaster said that plaintiff had stated that he had bought the lighter on April 9th, 1923, and he then immediately placed it in the possession of Po On, of which firm he knew a partner. On

DOCTORS AT DINNER.

EUROPEAN MEDICAL MEN ENTERTAIN CHINESE.

GOVERNOR SENDS MESSAGE.

At the Hongkong Hotel last evening, the European medical practitioners of the Colony entertained their Chinese confreres at dinner. A large number were present, the chair being taken by Professor J. Anderson. At the close of the dinner, Professor Anderson proposed the toast to the King and the Republic of China and read the following message from His Excellency the Governor, Sir Cecil Clementi:

"Few things are more important for the future of Hongkong than that there should be wholehearted co-operation between the European and Chinese sections of the community, and in no matter is such co-operation more valuable than in questions relating to public health and the cure and prevention of disease. But in order that there may be co-operation, there must first be that mutual understanding and appreciation of Western and Eastern ideals and modes of life, which can best be obtained by friendly social intercourse.

I have, therefore, heard with very great pleasure that the European medical practitioners, registered in Hongkong, have invited to dinner the Chinese medical practitioners who are similarly registered; and I cordially hope that this dinner may prove to be the first of a series at which the European and Chinese doctors of the Colony will annually meet and entertain each other."

After reading this message, the Chairman, in the name of the European doctors, extended a welcome to the Chinese practitioners.

Dr. Lee, the President of the China Medical Association, replied. A toast to the British Medical Association was then proposed by Dr. Jau Hawk and suitably replied to by Dr. Strahan. This was followed by a toast by Dr. Addison to the China Medical Association to which Dr. S. C. Ho replied.

MR. MURAKAMI AS HOST.

INFORMAL Tiffin Party at HONGKONG HOTEL.

The Japanese Consul-General, Mr. Y. Murakami, gave a tiffin party at the Hongkong Hotel yesterday. The gathering was quite informal, and was held, not to celebrate any particular event, but simply, in Mr. Murakami's words, "to strengthen old friendships and to make new ones."

Among those present were the Colonial Secretary, Mr. E. R. Hallifax; the Colonial Treasurer, Mr. C. McI. Messer; the Director of Public Works, Mr. H. T. Cressay; the Captain Superintendent of Police, Mr. P. P. J. Woodhouse; the Secretary for Chinese Affairs, Mr. D. W. Trautman; the Director of Education, Mr. A. E. Wood; Lieut.-Commander G. F. Hole, Mr. R. Ponsonby Fane, Mr. J. Abe, Mr. O. T. Breakspear, Mr. A. Hicks, Mr. S. Kinoshita, Mr. B. Wylie, Mr. Y. Tsutsumi, Mr. C. M. McDonald, Mr. S. Okubo, Mr. W. Jackson, and Mr. T. Yamazaki.

At the conclusion of tiffin Mr. Murakami, after expressing the pleasure it gave him to entertain his guests, referred to the friendship that had existed for so long between Great Britain and Japan and trusted that it might always continue.—Mr. E. R. Hallifax and Mr. Ponsonby Fane returned thanks on behalf of the visitors for the hospitality accorded them and reciprocated the good wishes of the host. The function was a very pleasant one and thoroughly enjoyed.

WEATHER REPORT.

The Royal Observatory issued the following report at 5.10 p.m. yesterday: The anti-cyclone is nearly stationary over the Yellow Sea. A fresh monsoon may be expected along the South-east Coast of China and over the China Sea. Local forecasts:—North-east winds, fresh, overcast; some drizzle or mist.

April 20th, Po On Co. took the lighter to defendants for repairs, and a great deal of alteration had to be made. After $2,000 had been paid in alteration and repairs, plaintiff thought it necessary to take out a licence in respect of the lighter in October, 1923. Payment for work done was made by the Po On, the first amount being $100 on June 17th. Various applications for payment were made later, and at no time was the slightest indication given that the lighter belonged to any other than the Po On Co. On June 24th they sent an assistant to Po On to get something on account, and found the bailiffs there. Defendants then issued a writ against the Po On Co. Messrs. Johnson, Stokes & Masters then sent a letter pointing out that the lighter had been on charter, and that the charter had expired. They asked for the return of the lighter, and no suggestion was made that payment would be made; it was merely that they wanted the lighter.

QUESTION OF COUNTER CLAIM. His Lordship: The only question is whether defendants had lost their lien on the lighter.

Mr. Alabaster thought that the lien was not lost, and submitted that the case of Jacob and Latour, cited by Mr. Jenkin did not agree with the case.

His Lordship again said that he thought the only point was whether the defendants had lost their lien as a result of the sale, and whether their buying of the lighter amounted to conversion.

Mr. Alabaster did not continue with the point, and raised the point of counter claim.

After argument His Lordship granted the application and the case will be continued to-day.

ATTEMPTS TO SETTLE THE BOYCOTT.

REVIEW OF NEGOTIATIONS WITH CANTON.

THE PRESENT POSITION EXPLAINED.

HONGKONG GOVERNMENT ISSUES STATEMENT.

Last evening the Colonial Secretariat issued the following communiqué, which deals fully with the attempts made by the Hongkong Government to reach a settlement with the Canton Government.

His Excellency the Governor soon after his arrival, following a gesture of friendship in a speech at the University, took advantage of the presence in the Colony of a merchant delegation from Canton to announce that the Government would be willing to appoint a strong deputation of influential merchants to visit Canton to initiate discussions with a view to a settlement provided that the Canton Government would appoint delegates of equal standing and responsibility to meet them. The proposal was conveyed to the Canton Government, and was met with the reply that:

- the strikers would elect three members of their Committee to be delegates with full powers to negotiate, one of them almost certainly being the Chairman of the Strike Committee;
- the merchants would also elect one prominent merchant to be a member of the delegation; this would probably be the Chairman of the Canton General Chamber of Commerce;
- other members of the Strike Committee, probably six, and perhaps one or two additional merchants would be present at the negotiations to watch the proceedings; and
- that a minor Cantonese official could be attached to the delegation as Secretary.

This reply failed to respond to the spirit in which the suggestion of the Hongkong Government had been made: and it was felt that no useful purpose would be served by a conference between a delegation not appointed by the Canton Government, and the gentlemen whom the Hongkong Government had nominated. Efforts were therefore made by Hongkong to open negotiations upon other lines.

These efforts took the form of a suggestion that Hongkong officials of high standing should be added to the Colony's delegation, and that the Canton Government should take similar action on their part; both delegations to be armed with full powers from their respective Governments for the settlement of all outstanding questions. The Canton Government, however, took the attitude that it could only appoint representatives to act as mediators; and the position that the Hongkong Government should appoint a delegation including officials as plenipotentiary delegates, appearing as principals vis à vis the Canton delegation described above, whereas Canton would only appoint officers "to mediate" was one that could not be accepted. This effort therefore also failed.

An interchange of visits between important officials of Hongkong and Canton then took place, and discussions were held on the lines of separating the "political" and so-called "economic" questions at issue. It was considered that negotiation on the "economic" side could best be conducted by Chinese business men; and on the understanding so reached, the Hongkong Government acquiesced in the suggestion for a visit to Canton by a delegation of eight prominent Chinese appointed by the Chinese Community. It was understood that this delegation would deal directly with the Strike Committee, and would negotiate with them the "economic" questions, namely: strike pay and compensation for loss of employment, leaving all "political" questions for later consideration between the two Governments; the Strike and the Boycott to cease on the settlement of the "economic" questions.

On reaching Canton, however, on 20th December, the delegation of eight found that no assistance could be looked for from the Canton Government towards meeting the Strike Committee and discussing the "economic" terms with them, unless they were also prepared to discuss and settle with the Strike Committee at the same time "political" terms. For this the delegation clearly could have no authority: its members thoroughly explored every possible avenue for negotiation, and left no doubt of their sincerity, but the visit proved entirely fruitless, and they returned to the Colony on January 2nd.

The Hongkong Government is prepared at any time to resume negotiations, but in the circumstances detailed cannot see that any useful purpose will be served by any further delegation to Canton at the present time, and it now remains for the Canton Government on its side to give evidence of sincerity by making the next advance.

THE BOYCOTT.

NEW INSPECTION ARRANGEMENTS AT CANTON.

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

In accordance with an agreement recently entered upon between certain groups of merchants and the Canton Strike Committee enforcing the boycott, the inspection to guard against the entry of "imperialist" goods into Canton from neighbouring ports and Shanghai will henceforth be done under the supervision of representatives from the four principal trade guilds of the city. A special committee of 24 will be appointed to supervise the inspections. There have been several serious complaints lately against strike pickets holding up and appropriating goods in transit as "imperialist." The latest case is a consignment of 35 bales of leather from Shanghai to Canton which the workers have condemned as contraband. The owners assert that the goods are worth more than $50,000.

PAYING TAXES IN ADVANCE.

SWATOW SALT MERCHANTS' GRIEVANCE.

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

Swatow salt merchants are complaining that they cannot advance the payment of their salt taxes any further. They consider that in 1926 they will have about $1,500,000 to pay in taxation, but as they have already advanced more than $2,100,000, they are powerless further to assist the Kuomintang Army there. The Kuomintang is asking for a further advance of $570,000.

Canton hears that the militarists in Swatow will soon be richer by $200,000 from the 307 cases of opium they have captured. They are to sell the opium at $1.70 a tael, and each case contains 400 taels.

MOTHERS' UNION RALLY.

AIMS AND OBJECTS OF THE ORGANISATION.

MEETING AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

On the afternoon of Tuesday, January 19th, at the invitation of Lady Clementi, there met together at Government House perhaps one of the most goodly companies of women ever assembled in one place in this Colony.

The meeting had been called together for the purpose of re-awakening interest in the great organisation known as the "Mothers' Union"—a name familiar to women all over the world, and to many thousands, a name embodying intense interest and devotion.

It was hoped that this meeting would be the means of giving encouragement and enthusiasm to those members who already belonged to the Union, and also of adding materially to the membership, and that by the united effort of many the spiritual and educational life in the homes of Hongkong might be strengthened and deepened.

AIM OF THE UNION.

The Chairman, the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, after thanking Lady Clementi for her kindness in inviting the company to Government House and for her interest in the occasion, gave a brief account of the aims and objects of the Mothers' Union. He told the story of its humble beginning. How a few devoted women, under the leadership of one, Mary Sumner, had gathered together in a small Hampshire village and had determined to unite themselves in an effort to better the home life in that village and its immediate surroundings. Because of the fact that this Union filled a great want, and because its appeal was so practical and impelling, the movement grew and grew until at the time of Mary Sumner's death it had become the largest organisation of women in the world, with a membership of 400,000 and branches in many distant parts of the earth, and boasted Victoria, the Queen, as its Royal Patron.

And who can measure the potent force of that great army of women, bound together by one lofty ideal! That ideal, the determination that by their combined efforts—their influence through the homes of the nation upon the nation itself—the whole fabric of Society could be sweetened. Let the women of to-day see to it that they fall not short of this valiant example!

LADY CLEMENTI'S SUPPORT.

Lady Clementi then made a charming little speech, welcoming the gathering to Government House. She said that hitherto she had not been a member of the Union, although for many years she had been aware of its existence, as the Governor's mother had long been a devoted and enthusiastic member. Now, when she had become (most undeservedly) she considered Diocesan Patron, she meant to give the Union her deep interest and support, and hoped for a bright future for it in the Colony.

AFTER THIS TWO APPROPRIATE SONGS WERE DELIGHTFULLY SUNG BY MRS. COLLETT.

ACTIVITIES IN HONGKONG.

Mrs. Duppy, Diocesan President, then gave a brief resume of the activities of the Union since its inception in Hongkong, mentioning that the Victoria Branch boasted a membership of 50, whilst the newly-formed branch at Kowloon had already 30 members, with prospect of more. She especially appealed for co-operation from the rank and file of the members, saying that no organisation could hope to flourish so long as it depended only upon the efforts of its executive only. Loyal support from every individual member was necessary in order that good work should be done.

Mrs. Duppy further pointed out the excellence of the literature provided by the Union. Two publications were obtainable—one, The Mothers' Union Journal and the other, Mothers in Council. In both were to be found most interesting articles on various subjects of interest to women, she was sure these articles would prove most helpful to mothers in all stages and walks of life.

PROGRAMME OF MEETINGS.

Mrs. Noll, the Secretary of the Victoria Branch, then told in a few words what her members were doing. The meetings are held on the Helena May Institute on alternate Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 5, and all women, whether members or not, are invited to come and see what is being done there. On the third Tuesday in the month, informal talks, followed by discussion, are to be given upon subjects of educational and domestic interest. The following have been arranged:—

February 10th.—The Responsibility of Parenthood.
March 16th.—How I was Brought Up.
April 20th.—The Faith of a Child.

The Rev. G. R. Lindsay, vicar of St. Andrew's, Kowloon, told of the new Branch recently formed in his parish and its progress. Incidentally he paid a charming tribute to the work of women in the Church and parish, and spoke of the inspiration and comfort given by them to the often hard-worked and bewildered clergy.

The last speaker was Mrs. Warren, who pointed out that though she could lay no claim to being a mother, she felt that as she had for many years filled the rôle of "Universal Aunt" she could speak with a certain amount of authority upon the subject of the training of children. Mrs. Warren told of the excellent work she had found being done by the "Mothers' Union" in many different parts of the world, although she had discovered a certain amount of ignorance displayed as to its purpose in Hongkong—especially if judged by the comments overheard in the Peak tram!

Mrs. Warren gave several interesting examples of how the Union ought to be a help to those having the care of children, and wished the Hongkong Branch a successful and active future.

The meeting closed by the singing of the "Mothers' Union Hymn," after which Lady Clementi invited all those present to tea in the room below, where, (Continued at foot of next column.)

HONGKONG RAINFALL—1925.

[FROM AN OCCASIONAL CONTRIBUTOR.]

The Royal Observatory, Kowloon, has now published hourly rainfall returns for upwards of forty years, and with such a series to fall back on it is not to be expected that a record will be often broken. The wettest recorded year was 1859 with 119.72 inches and the driest 1888 with 43.83 inches. The heaviest month's rainfall was in May, 1888—43.84 inches. Each of the summer months June-September has had a fall as high as 30 inches and as low as 5 inches. In the winter—each month from October to February has had as little as 0.1—practically rainless. For a heavy continuous rain the May storm of 1889 when 27.44 inches fell in 21 consecutive hours and 11.90 inches in four hours will take some beating, and for long continued drought the winter of 1890-91 with a fall of only 3.81 inches in 6 months holds the record though it is closely followed by the winter of 1901-2 with 4.23 inches in 6 months.

The year 1925 though it had a total fall of 87.59 inches which is within 2 per cent. of the 42 years' average was characterized by considerable variation from the mean in particular months. March, June and July were much above the mean while May and August were considerably below it. Heavy storms were experienced in June and July. On 15th June 3.16 inches per hour was recorded during a storm which totalled 7.45 inches in 4 hours. A storm in July was of nearly equal severity 2.83 inches per hour being recorded as a maximum and 7.71 inches in 4 hours, and it would seem from the land-slides which have occurred in different parts of the Colony that rain at least as heavy as this has occurred in many places at several miles distant from the Observatory.

It is in this direction that further information might be of value. The records now published by the Observatory tell us that rainfall at the rate of three inches an hour may be expected any time during the summer and that such a storm may last for some hours, but we have little information as to whether such a storm is likely to cover simultaneously an area of ten or of one hundred square miles. The gauges at the Botanic Gardens, Matilda Hospital, Taitam and Tai-po are read daily, but in dealing with floods over comparatively small areas the hourly rainfall counts for more than the daily fall, and the only way of obtaining reliable information about the hourly fall would be by means of a series of self-recording gauges fixed at suitable places in different parts of the Colony.

The tables below give the monthly rainfall for 1925 with the corresponding means and extremes, and the yearly rainfall from the date of the opening of the Observatory—1884.

ANTI-JAPANESE PARADE.

LARGE GATHERING AT CANTON.

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

The well-organised workers and students in Canton were called upon on January 18th to stage an anti-Japanese parade and demonstration at the East Parade Ground. The resolutions prepared for them to pass included the following: (1) demanding economic severance with Japan; (2) condemning Japanese invasion of Manchuria; (3) demanding the rendition of Dairen; (4) calling for the punishment of Marshal Chang Tso Lin, the "hunting dog of Japanese imperialism" in Manchuria; (5) requesting the Tuan Chi Jui Government in Peking to resign; (6) supporting the Kuomintang Government in Canton in its proposed Northern expedition; and (7) making the usual demands for the removal of unequal treaties. The Kuomintang newspapers report that there was an attendance of more than 200,000 persons at the demonstration; but this is absurd for it would mean practically one-fourth of the population of Canton registered by the Police.

as well as tea, they would find an opportunity of enrolling as members of the "Mothers' Union"—an opportunity of which a gratifying number availed themselves!

Further information respecting the Mothers' Union can be obtained from the Hon. Secretary, Mrs. M. J. Noll, 103, The Peak, to whom application for membership should be made.

CHINA IN TRAVAIL.

THE resignation of Dr. CHEN CHIN TAO, who has held the thankless post of Minister of Finance in the Peking Cabinet for a few months only, will create no surprise, since it has been expected by all who are acquainted with the difficulties he has been encountering in providing the Treasury with the funds it requires to cover the end of the year settlements. Since China, on the inauguration of the Republic, adopted the Western Calendar, two "New Year Settlements" have been recognised—one on the eve of what is generally called "the Foreign New Year," and the other at China New Year—for the great mass of the people, while they are perfectly willing to accept the "Foreign New Year" as a holiday, religiously adhere to the China New Year as being the time for the settlement of accounts. But as official business is now regulated by the Western Calendar the Minister of Finance at Peking was faced in December, last, with the problem of replenishing an empty exchequer, in order to meet large arrears of salaries. It appears that a loan of about two million dollars was needed—a beggarly sum for a Government controlling so vast and so populous a country as China, but the utmost the Finance Minister considered he might be able to raise from the Chinese banks was one million. Actually he succeeded in raising no more than $600,000, with the result, said a Peking report, that "only a very small percentage of the salaries in arrears in the political and military departments in the Capital was paid on December 31st, while the Secretarial Staff in the Office of the Chief Executive, and the staff in the schools were left entirely out in the cold." Year after year we hear the same old tale of misery and woe; but all the people "left out in the cold" manage to find somehow the means of surviving and making renewed appeals for unpaid salaries, each settlement day. The Salt Surplus has been a perfect God-send hitherto to Finance Ministers at Peking. On this security they could confidently approach the Chinese banks for money, but owing to the exactions of the military marauders this has become a dwindling asset, and "a Chinese financial authority" is quoted by a Chinese news agency in Peking as authority for the statement that in the last month of the year, the Salt Surplus was the lowest since the Salt Service was established in the early years of the Republic. The abuse of the railways in the country by the military has likewise deprived the Ministry of Communications of much-needed revenue. With the approach of China New Year the Finance Minister is again confronted with a problem, probably on a much bigger scale than that of a month ago, and in despair he resigns. The burden is placed, for the time being at least, on the shoulders of the Prime Minister, and between now and February 12th we are likely to hear a great deal of the Government's financial embarrassments, of which the Tariff Autonomy Committee will doubtless be expected to take special note.

It is the steadily growing financial problem that must sooner or later force the Chinese military leaders into co-operation with the aims of the Civil leaders. That "Round Table Conference" idea that Sir ROBERT HO TUNG a couple of years ago spent many months in North China in promoting offers China the only way out of the present difficulties. A move along those lines has recently been made by Mr. HSING HAI LING, an ex-Prime Minister. On New Year's Day he issued what is known in China as "a circular telegram" appealing especially to "the Big Four"—Marshal TUAN CHI JUI (acting Chief Executive), Marshal FENG YU HSIAO, Marshal WU PEI FU, and General SUN CHUAN FANG—to "bury the hatchet," meet in Peking and get themselves appointed as a "Grand Council of Marshals" (or "Council of Grand Marshals" as the translation has it), to reorganise the military administration and see that it is kept subservient to the will of the Civil Power. He further suggested that the Senate should consist of not more than fifty-three members and that it should be their duty to convene in due course a People's Conference and enact a Constitution in which the people generally will have confidence. For some unexplained reason CHANG TSO LIN is not included in the proposed Grand Council. The key to a solution of the country's difficulties, Mr. HSING says, is in the hands of "the Big Four" whose names are given above. His message was prompted by Marshal FENG's announcement of his decision to retire in order to set a good example to the other War Lords. Mr. HSING tells these military leaders that the interests of the State will not be served any more by their retirement into seclusion than it is by a continual struggle for supremacy. What is needed is that they should work in co-operation to secure the unity of the army and its co-operation with the Civil authority which must be supreme and unfettered. What response, if any, has been made to this appeal we do not know. From each of the "Big Four," there have been quite recent declarations fully in accord with these sentiments. The following paragraph from a recent declaration by General SUN CHUAN FANG is characteristic of declarations made from time to time by every military leader in China, namely: "I have desired to save the country and embarked on warfare reluctantly. Feeling the impropriety of prolonging civil warfare with the people unable to suffer further disasters and injuries, I have tried and tried to end the cruel fighting and to dream of peace. It is exactly my will and my longing to cancel all military arrangements and to have an improvement in civil administration." But nothing practical is ever done towards the realisation of this "dream of peace." Some day, we suppose, a Mussolini will emerge in China to give force and effect to these vague longings.

The Hongkong Police annual ball takes place to-morrow night at the City Hall.

Dr. J. B. Addison, Principal Civil Medical Officer, returned to the Colony yesterday from Singapore on the French mail steamer D'Artagnan.

Fog enveloped the Peak yesterday and many enquiries were made by residents as to when the University Professor proposes to start converting the fog into rain.

Charged with fighting in Stanley Street on Sunday, two Chinese were bound over for six months at the Central Magistracy yesterday. Both men said they were drunk at the time.

H.M.S. Hermes will be leaving Hongkong on or about February 1st for the Mediterranean, where she was stationed before coming out here. About the same time H.M.S. Vindictive will have joined the China Squadron.

The Vicar and Churchwardens of St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, have issued a special appeal to the congregation to "give up to the hilt" on Thanksgiving Sunday, January 31st. The Church needs a sum of $5,000.

Ex-judge Paul Linebarger, an American writer on Chinese affairs and among other books, author of Dr. Sun Yat Sen's biography, sailed for Shanghai on the French mail steamer D'Artagnan after having visited Canton and other parts of South China.

H.E. the Governor (Sir Cecil Clementi, K.C.M.G.), accompanied by Mr. P. P. J. Woodhouse, C.I.E. (Captain Superintendent of Police) visited the Tsim Sha Tsui Water Police Station, Yau-mai, and Sham Shui Po Police Stations yesterday morning and inspected the premises.

Among the passengers who left Hongkong last night on the s.s. President Madison for Manila were Mr. and Mrs. George H. Fairchild, and their son, Mr. Bradley Fairchild. Mr. Fairchild and his son are interested in sugar planting in the Philippines, and are also connected with the Manila Times.

Guests going to the Ball on board H.M.S. Hawkins to-night by motor-car, are requested to enter H.M. Naval Dockyard by the Prince of Wales gate and to leave by the Main gate, passing by H.M.S. Tamar. Cars may return by the Prince of Wales gate to park on the football ground opposite H.M.S. Hawkins.—ADVT.

When a Russian named Ramon Drakoff appeared at the Central Magistracy yesterday, charged with having no passport when he arrived in the Colony, he said his passport and other documents had been stolen by pirates. A conviction without penalty was recorded, so as to allow the police to deport the man.

Fines of $10 each were imposed on three Chinese women who appeared before Major C. Willson at the Central Magistracy yesterday, charged with stealing wood and also with assaulting an Indian watchman. The watchman said he saw the women take the wood, and told them to put it back. They then assaulted him and tore off his turban.

The Report of the Hongkong Horticultural Society for the year 1925, being the twentieth annual report, mentions that the ordinary membership of the Society fell off considerably during the year and now stands at only 175, but it is hoped that interest will be revived during the coming season. The annual meeting is announced for Thursday, January 29th.

The "Paying Off" dance of the Lower Deck ratings of the H.M.S. Hawkins and their friends, took place last night on the Flagship, and proved a very enjoyable affair. The Quarter Deck, where dancing took place, was tastefully decorated for the occasion, with bunting and coloured lights, and an excellent programme of dances was gone through, music for which was provided by H.M.S. Hawkins Orchestra.

A fairly heavy mail was landed from the s.s. President Madison from U.S.A., Canada, Japan and Shanghai yesterday, the number of bags totalling 417. The bulk of the mail was from the States and Canada. To-day the s.s. President Cleveland is due with mail from the United Kingdom and Europe via Siberia and also from U.S.A., Honolulu, Japan and Shanghai. The London mail via Suez (letters and papers, dated London, December 24th and parcels of December 17th) is due late on Saturday afternoon by the P. & O. s.s. Karnata and the mail will be ready for delivery on Sunday morning.

The honours in connection with the Wembley Exhibition include an M.B.E. for Mr. George Duncan, of the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock. Mr. Duncan not only made the models exhibited in the Hongkong Section at Wembley (including that of "Hongkong by Night" which attracted special attention) but he rendered valuable service in the erection and the general arrangement of the section. Mr. Duncan remained at the Exhibition throughout 1923, and saw it re-open in 1925, but returned to Hongkong in July. His work has been the subject of high compliments by the Special Committee of the Chamber of Commerce which made the local arrangements for the Exhibition, and the recognition of his services now accorded will give pleasure to all who know how well it is deserved. The absence of other names from this list of Wembley Exhibition honours is, of course, well understood. Since the Exhibition closed the Hon. Mr. Hallifax, who was the Commissioner of the Hongkong Section, has been honoured with a C.M.G., while the Hon. Mr. Chow Shou Son, who was an Assistant Commissioner, has been made a Knight Bachelor.

THE MAKWAR DAM.

GREAT BRITISH ACHIEVEMENT IN THE SUDAN.

Rome, January 20th.

The great new Makwar Dam, on the Blue Nile, in the Sudan, will be officially opened to-morrow by Lord Lloyd, British High Commissioner in Egypt. The dam represents one of the world's greatest engineering feats and it is estimated that it will bring into cultivation immediately some 300,000 acres of land which have hitherto been desert. It will do for the Sudan what the Assuan Dam has done for Egypt. Experts estimate that the new irrigated area will produce 10,000,000 lbs. of cotton yearly and will have immense influence on the future prosperity of the Sudan. The dam lies near Sennar, 170 miles above Khartoum, and 2,000 miles from the mouth of the Nile and has been constructed by the British firm of S. Pearson and Son, at a cost of twelve and a half million pounds. The dam is two miles long and the water stopped by it amounts to 140,000,000 gallons, a great lake, 50 miles long having been created. The possibility of irrigating Gezira Plain was first realised by Sir William Garstin, when he visited the Sudan soon after its reconquest in 1898. It was Lord Ritchie who first fostered the dam scheme. Work was begun late in 1913 but was interfered with its progress and it was not until 1920 that any great advance in construction work was made, those engaged upon it including some 20,000 native workmen. In addition to the dam, a new railway line has been built from Makwar to Kassala, near Abyssinian Byrner. Cotton will be carried over this line and thence over the older line to Port Sudan, the nearest outlet to the sea, whence it will be shipped to London and Liverpool.

ELECTRICITY PROPOSALS.

BILL TO BE PRESENTED TO PARLIAMENT.

Rome, January 20th.

It is anticipated that a Bill, containing Government's electricity proposals, outlined in a speech a few days ago by the Premier, will be presented to Parliament early after its reassembly at the beginning of February. Meanwhile, the Minister of Transport is holding a series of conferences with representatives of electrical manufacturers and other industries likely to be affected, in order that their views may be taken into account in the Bill. The scheme provides for the establishment of a National Board to control the supply of electrical power throughout the country, by closing inadequately equipped generating stations and supplying their areas through existing arrangements for distribution with electricity generated in six modern super-stations at lower cost. All superstations will be linked up by a network of power cables and frequency will be standardised throughout the country at fifty cycles per second.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN U.K.

SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT OVER LAST YEAR.

Rome, January 19th.

The annual review of labour conditions for the past year is contained in the Ministry of Labour  Gazette  which shows that the number of insured workers recorded as unemployed at the end of the year was slightly lower than in the previous December. Although legislative and administrative changes introduced had some effect in reducing numbers, it is stated that the reduction due to this cause was not considerable, and a fall in the total numbers occurred despite an increase of about 228,000 in the total number of insured workers. While recent months have however, shown shrinkage in the unemployment average, the monthly percentages of unemployed in British and Northern Ireland among insured workers was 11.3 as against 10.3 in the previous year. The increase was mainly due to the severe depression in the coal mining industry. The report states that as compared with the end of 1924 there was an improvement in the tinplate, hosiery, clothing, furnishing, woodworking, paper manufacturing, printing and certain kinds of metal trades, but a decline in coal and iron mining, pottery, shipbuilding, marine engineering, and silk and linen industries.

TOUR OF W. AFRICA.

PARTY FROM THE COLONIAL OFFICE TO TRAVEL.

Rome, January 20th.

Mr. Ormsby Gore, Under Secretary for the Colonies, accompanied by Mr. Charles Rhys, M.P., and two members of the Colonial Office staff, leave London to-morrow for his visit to the British West African Dependencies. The party is due to arrive at Lagos on February 4th and after a tour of some six weeks in Nigeria, part of which will be spent in the Northern Provinces, they will leave for Accra on March 18th. The programme provides for a stay of approximately three weeks, in the Gold Coast, after which ten days will be spent in Sierra Leone and three days in Gambia. The party will leave Bathurst on April 20th on their homeward journey.

AN UNDERGROUND SCHEME IS STARTED IN LONDON.

Rome, January 19th.

A miniature Underground Railway for carrying letters and parcels for the Post Office is in course of construction in London at a cost of £1,600,000, and it will be completed at the end of the year. A double set of rails is accommodated in an underground, tube nine feet in diameter and the system links up all the main Post Offices of London. The trains are automatic and will travel at a speed of thirty-five miles per hour. The Post Office authorities are building nineteen cars, each thirteen feet six inches long, for this miniature tube. Each car will accommodate two hundred weight of mails so that when all are running and carrying full load, a weight of forty-five tons will be in transit. It will be possible to run thirty trains hourly, although naturally the number of trains will depend on the quantity of mails to be handled. A great saving above ground in horse and motor vehicles and also in manual labour will result from the innovation.

WAR CEMETERIES.

STEPS TAKEN TO OBTAIN ENDOWMENT FUND.

Rome, January 19th.

The preliminary steps towards the establishment of an endowment fund of £5,000,000, which the Government in conjunction with the Dominion Governments will set up for permanent maintenance of war cemeteries have been completed. The Imperial War Graves Commission have appointed General Sir Herbert Lawrence, Mr. E. R. Weacock, and Major General Sir Fabian Ware, trustees of the fund.

CANCER RESEARCH.

Rome, January 19th.

Doctor W. Gye, whose cancer research discoveries have created worldwide interest, yesterday stated that recent researches had defined in practical terms the problem before them. "We know," he said, "what we have to solve, and in my opinion the most important part of the work has already been solved. The prospects for the final solution of the cause and probably the prevention of the disease are ripe." Dr. Gye was speaking at a meeting in Yorkshire which county has just collected over £250,000 to establish a cancer research centre to be connected with Leeds University.

QUEUES AT THEATRES.

ACTION BEING TAKEN BY LORD CHAMBERLAIN.

Rome, January 20th.

Of late, a campaign has been waged against the theatre queue, and a Society has been formed aiming at its abolition. It appears that official action has now been taken in the matter. Lord Cromer, the Lord Chamberlain, by virtue of the control which he exercises over London theatres, has asked their proprietors to notify queues when there is no possibility of obtaining seats. His action will remove one of the chief grievances of theatre-goers—namely, that they often wait in a queue ignorant of the fact the queue already numbers more persons than can be accommodated.

AN APPEAL TO INDIA.

LORD READING'S SPEECH IN LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Delhi, January 20th.

The Legislative Assembly was opened in state to-day for the last time by Lord Reading, the retiring Viceroy. There was bright sunshine and the streets were lined with troops. The Chamber was crowded and presented a brilliant spectacle. The Viceroy sat on a golden chair on a crimson carpet. All officials were in uniform. Large crowds cheered Lord Reading's arrival and departure. The Viceroy, in a speech, announced that the King had approved the appointment of a Royal Commission on Agriculture in India. He said he and his Government fully sympathised with the Indian feeling in regard to anti-India legislation in South Africa. An Indian deputation to South Africa had already obtained valuable information and the Government of India still hoped to persuade the Union Government that there was the strongest ground for a conference on the whole question. Now that the stage of negotiation had been reached, he hoped that the cause, which appeared to have justice and equity on its side, would prevail and a basis for discussion with the Union Government would be reached.

The Viceroy greatly regretted that the Indian political leaders had not made better response to Lord Birkenhead's message of sympathetic encouragement. He said Britain's heart would have been won by the immediate acceptance of advances made. Though there had been some change of the tone and temper of the politicians to Government, he wished it had been more unmistakable. He trusted that the ensuing session would be a clear manifestation of an attitude as generous and well-intentioned as that which prompted the appeal and that a new era would dawn of a more sympathetic and more widespread trust and more universal goodwill.

THE BANKNOTE SCANDAL.

HUNGARIAN PREMIER TELLS OF GOVERNMENT ATTITUDE.

"A GREAT CONFRONTATION."

Budapest, January 20th.

"There is going to be a great confrontation," promised Dr. Bethlen (the Premier), in a speech in the Assembly debating the banknote scandal. The Assembly was packed with Deputies and members of the public. Proceedings were most animated. Much of Dr. Bethlen's speech was inaudible above the din of the Left Party members loudly chattering "resign," and a counter demonstration by Government supporters, standing and cheering the Premier. The latter emphasised that Government was not evading its responsibility. The question of ascertaining the facts was the business of the Courts rather than of Government, though Government wished to clear up the political background if such existed. The Premier repeated that there was no trace of any revolutionary schemes.

THE FOREIGN PRESS.

Dr. Bethlen read extracts from the foreign Press about the situation in Hungary, which caused great hilarity among the ministerialists, but roused the Socialists to fury. Dr. Bethlen said that these wild reports were due to perverse propaganda by refugees abroad. It was a conspiracy against the honour of the nation. He emphasised the conservative character of the Government, which in no wise was counter-revolutionary but meant to respect the existing international situation, despite the efforts of the malcontents to terminate the Trianon Treaty.

THE RHINELAND.

ALLEGED FRENCH REPLY TO GERMANY.

CANNOT REDUCE STRENGTH.

Paris, January 20th.

According to Le Journal, M. Briand has replied to the representations of the German Ambassador, Herr Von Hoersch, in regard to the strength of the Allied forces in the Rhineland. He stated that at present there could be no question of reducing the strength of the French forces in the Rhineland. He pointed out that since December 1st the French troops have been reduced by about 20,000 men, while the Belgians and British had reduced their forces by only one regiment and one battalion respectively.

THE B.I.S.N. CO.

APPLICATIONS INVITED FOR PURCHASE OF STOCK.

London, January 20th.

Applications are invited for the purchase of £700,000 5 Per Cent. cumulative preference stock in the British India Steam Navigation Company at 91 per cent. It is understood that the stock hitherto has been held privately and does not represent fresh capital.

WEMBLEY HONOURS.

DECORATION FOR HONGKONG RESIDENT.

MR. G. DUNCAN, M.B.E.

London, January 19th.

The Wembley Exhibition Honours, which were gazetted to-night, include the following:—

Commander of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire—Mr. Andrew Caldecott, Malaya. Member of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire—Mr. George Duncan, Hongkong.

Honorary Member of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire—Raja Kechil and ex-Sultan Abdullah, Malaya.

HONOURS FOR AUSTRALIA.

Australasia gets the lion's share of the Wembley Exhibition Honours with six out of 35 recipients.

General Sir Travers Clarke heads the list with the Knight of the Grand Cross of the Empire.

The only woman, Lady Galway, Chairman of the Women's Section, gets a Commandership of the Order of the Empire.

The list contains four Knight Commanderships of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, the remainder being minor decorations.

AVIATION OF FUTURE.

SIR SEFTON BRANCKER ON THE POSSIBILITIES.

London, January 19th.

Two-berth sleeping cabins, a dining saloon and a lounge were among the details sketched by Major-General Sir Sefton Brancker, lecturing to the Overseas League and describing airships, which "possibly in the very near future" would be able to carry a hundred passengers with baggage from England to Australia via India within ten or twelve days, cruising at about sixty-five miles per hour. He added:—"We have started the Cairo-Karachi service and Australia has started to meet us. The meeting will probably be at Singapore."

A SEAPLANE FLIGHT.

Huelva, January 19th.

Major Franco and Captain Ruiz de Alda have arrived in a seaplane from Melilla—the first "hop" preparatory to leaving Palos de Moguer on Thursday for America.

ITALIAN DEBT TO U.K.

BRITISH TREASURY LIFTS VEIL OF SILENCE.

London, January 19th.

The Treasury has to-night slightly lifted the veil of silence enshrouding the Italian debt negotiations, with the League announcement that Mr. Winston Churchill and Signor Volpi, with experts has lengthily considered the fundamental points at issue and made considerable progress. The discussions are being resumed on January 22nd.

ANNUITIES DISCUSSED.

"The considerable progress" mentioned in the Treasury's announcement regarding the Italian debt negotiations, apparently relates to the fact that the question of annuities has been reached. It is believed that argument concerning the exact amount of the debt has been shelved in favour of discussion on the payment of fixed annuities for a period of years, Britain asking at least £20,000,000 for sixty-two years, but Italy is prepared to offer three or four millions only.

GERMAN CABINET.

PRESIDENT MAKES MOVE TO AID DR. LUTHER.

Berlin, January 19th.

Dr. Luther's efforts to form a coalition Cabinet, comprising Democrats, Centrists, the German-Peoples and Bavarian Peoples Parties, have failed owing to differences between the Democrats and Bavarians. The former insisted on Herr Koch being given the Ministry of the Interior, whereas the Bavarians objected to Koch as a danger of the Federal system of the Reich, on account of his strong democratic and republican views. Dr. Luther makes a final effort to-day to bring the parties together but, in the event of failure, which is most probable, the President will be faced with the alternatives of asking Dr. Luther to form a Cabinet of officials and experts or to invite another politician to try his luck.

PRESIDENT MAKES MOVE.

President Hindenburg has made a move to help Dr. Luther solve his Cabinet making difficulties. He has received the leaders of the various parties and told them that a Government must be formed as the situation would be most serious if Dr. Luther failed. Subsequently, all the parties conferred with Dr. Luther and all agreed to his proposed Cabinet, which includes Doctor Kuelz as Minister of Interior.

COMMUNISTS IN EGYPT.

MOSCOW COMPLAINS POOR PROGRESS IS MADE.

Cairo, January 19th.

Of the eighteen Communists who were arrested last June following on police observation of their activities, three named Weiss, Pollak and Antonia, have been sentenced to three years imprisonment; four to imprisonment varying from one year to six months; and others, including a woman named Rosenthal, have been acquitted. The case was heard in camera. It is alleged that Weiss' real name was Kossy and that he received instructions from Moscow. He had been active in Palestine and Egypt. A letter from Moscow which was intercepted, complained that little headway was being made among the fellahs.

SOVIET CHANCES.

VIEWS EXPRESSED BY PRESS IN FRANCE.

Paris, January 19th.

The papers are most interested in the ministerial reshuffling in the Soviet Government.

Le Quotidien declares that the Bolsheviks wish to show a more moderate front in order to obtain credit.

L'Excelsior attributes the eagerness of the Soviet to re-open negotiations with France to the peasantry's need of agricultural machinery and fertilisers which Russian industry is unable to supply.

Le Petit Journal says the Soviet Government is being compelled to reverse engines under formidable pressure by the peasants and small tradesmen.

Le Petit Parisien declares that the Franco-Soviet pourparlers will be resumed next week.

IRISH COINAGE BILL.

London, January 19th.

The Irish Free State Minister of Finance has introduced a Bill in Dail Eireann providing for the establishment of a new coinage currency in nickel, silver and bronze. The coinage is proposed to be subject to similar limitations as regards legal tender as is the existing British coinage.

IMPERIAL TOBACCO CO.

London, January 19th.

A meeting of Directors of the Imperial Tobacco Company recommended a final dividend of 6 per cent. and a bonus of 1s. 6d. per share (both free of Income Tax) on the ordinary shares for the year ended October 31st, 1925, the placing of £250,000 to General Reserve Account and £250,000 for the provision of pensions, carrying forward 2843,000.

THE WORLD'S SHIPPING.

LLOYD'S BUILDING FIGURES FOR LAST YEAR.

London, January 19th.

According to Lloyd's annual summary of shipping, 833 vessels, of 9,193,000 tons, were launched during 1925, of which 491 per cent., namely, 1,083,000 tons were launched in the British Isles. Germany came second with 400,000 tons, Italy third with 142,000 tons and the United States fourth with 120,000 tons. Japan was eighth with 36,000 tons. There is a decrease in the world's total output of 54,000 tons as compared with 1924, but the decrease in the British Isles was 353,000 tons, and thus there had been an increase abroad of 301,000 tons. The amount of tonnage launched in Britain for owners abroad was 178,000 tons.

THE PERSIAN RAILWAY.

Tehran, January 19th.

The Minister of Public Works has submitted a Bill authorising the construction of a railway across Persia.

ICE HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Davos, January 19th.

Switzerland won the European Ice Hockey Championship, Czechoslovakia being second, and Austria third.

THE AMERICAN NAVY.

ITS STRENGTH DISCUSSED BY HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Washington, January 19th.

The House of Representatives debated the strength of the United States Navy. Most of the Republicans defended the economies recommended by the Appropriations Committee, but the Republican Mr. Britten, feared the United States was in danger of falling below the five-five-three naval ratio, which he insisted the British were fully maintaining. The Republican, Mr. French, who is a member of the Appropriations Committee, denied this.

COMMERCIAL PETROL.

FUMES NOT DANGEROUS TO HEALTH.

Washington, January 19th.

That commercial petrol containing tetra ethyl lead is not dangerous to health and that there is no reason why its sale under proper regulations should be prohibited, is the finding of a Committee appointed in May last. The Committee's report is based on the study of 252 persons exposed in various degrees to the exhaust fumes of the gas. It is pointed out, however, that there is serious danger to health in the manufacture and blending of tetra ethyl lead which must be subject to precise regulations.

OIL IN MEXICO.

MANY INJUNCTIONS FILED AGAINST NEW LAW.

Mexico City, January 18th.

There have been approximately thirty applications for injunctions to restrain the Mexican Government from the retro-active application of the new petroleum law filed in the district courts by foreign oil companies. Meanwhile Committees representing foreign companies are conferring with Senor Luis Morones, the Minister of Commerce, regarding the details of the new law.

U.S. RUBBER PROBLEM.

MR. HOOVER ESTIMATES FALL IN CONSUMPTION.

Washington, January 19th.

Mr. Hoover, in a statement, estimated, the consumption of rubber in the United States during December as being 7,000 tons below November. While he regarded the reduction as partly seasonal, he thought it indicated a desire on the part of the American public to reduce consumption on account of high prices. He added that American rubber manufacturers had covered 75 per cent of their requirements for the next six months by advance contracts.

Giving evidence before the Commerce Committee of the House of Representatives, Mr. C. E. Walters, attached to the Bureau of Standards, said production costs prohibit the use on a large scale of reclaimed and synthetic rubber.

PROPERTY SALE.

GOOD BIDDING FOR CONDUIT ROAD PROPERTY.

Brisk bidding marked a sale of leasehold property held at Mr. A. C. da Rocha's auction rooms yesterday afternoon.

The property concerned is situated at No. 11, Conduit Road, and known as "Banfuly." The total area is 20,000 square feet and the land is held under a Crown lease for the term of 75 years renewable for a further term of 75 years. The annual Crown rent is $138.

Mr. da Rocha started the bidding at an upset price of $40,000. This was advanced by a bid of $100, and then by another bid of $800, bringing the price up to $41,000. This order of alternate bids of $100 and $800 proceeded until the figure of $44,100 was reached, at which stage Mr. Li Koom Chun put up a bid of $800 and the property was knocked down to him for $4,500.

FAR EASTERN CABLE NEWS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SINO-RUSSIAN FRICTION.

DEFINITE RUPTURE REGARDING THE C.E.R.

COMPLETE DEADLOCK REACHED.

Peking, January 20th.

Telegrams from Manchuria reveal that the dispute which has been proceeding for some time between the Soviet authorities and the Chinese over the question of the transportation of Chinese troops by the Chinese Eastern Railway, is fast developing into a struggle for de facto control of the railway.

DEFINITE RUPTURE REPORTED.

Negotiations between the Chinese authorities and the Soviet Consul-General at Harbin ended in a definite rupture, with the result that the former have now adopted the policy of armed intervention. Traffic has ceased and the Russians have threatened to send troops to guard the line.

A passenger train which was forcibly occupied by Heilungkiang troops left Changchun for Harbin on the 17th instant under soldiers' coercion, and 1,200 Chinese troops were sent to Harbin by special train on the following day.

DEADLOCK IS REACHED.

Later telegrams from Harbin and Changchun show that the Sino-Soviet dispute in connection with the Chinese Eastern Railway has reached a complete deadlock. The Chinese issued orders for the resumption of traffic yesterday, and attempted to coerce the station-master at Changchun into carrying out instructions. The latter, however, out of instructions to budget, it is reported from Harbin that the Chinese have now interlocked the signalling system and the despatch of the Trans-Siberian express was prevented by the mediating attitude of the Chinese crowd.

The Consular Body warned the Chinese authorities that it will hold them responsible for loss of life and property, interference with the rights of Foreign nationals and damage to mails.

It appears that the Trans-Siberian express, which was outward bound from Harbin, was delayed five hours on January 18.

JAPAN IS WATCHING.

Tokyo, January 20th.

The Foreign Office spokesman says that the Japanese Government is watching the Sino-Russian friction in regard to the Changchun-Harbin line closely; but it does not anticipate danger arising, though the trouble probably will be long-drawn out.

Consular advice discount the rumour of Soviet mobilisation, as White Russian propaganda.

WEI YI SAN.

EXPECTED TO MAKE STAND AT LUANCHOW.

Peking, January 20th.

General Wei Yi San, with his troops, has reached Luanchow. He is expected to make a stand at this place, with the support of the First Kuomintang (People's Army).

HONGKONG "CONSPIRACY."

ALLEGED PLANS TO SMUGGLE CHINESE INTO AUSTRALIA.

Melbourne, January 19th.

The Federal authorities have taken active measures to terminate the practice of trying to smuggle Chinese to Australia on the birth certificates of dead Chinese. It is stated that the headquarters of the conspiracy are at Hongkong.

ARMED ROBBERY.

OLD WOMAN THE VICTIM.

In the early hours of Tuesday morning, two men, one armed with a knife and the other carrying a paper torch, entered a matchbox on the new Shing Mun Tin Wan Road, near Wo Lee Hop village, Tsau Wan, and carried out an armed robbery.

The matched was occupied by an old woman, her husband and her daughter-in-law, who were all asleep. The men terrorised the occupants and then ransacked the matched and searched the woman, from whom they stole $105 in Hongkong notes.

After remaining for about a quarter of an hour the robbers made off towards Tsau Wan.

BRIBERY CASE.

INDIAN CONSTABLE SENT TO PRISON.

The case in which an Indian constable was charged with taking a bribe from a car driver, again came before Mr. H. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

Mr. D. McCallum, appeared for the defendant, and cross-examined the driver of the car. Witness said it was the constable who suggested a bribe; and when he met him next day defendant took the money willingly.

Evidence was given by a Chinese detective, who said he saw defendant accept a white packet from the driver. Witness tried to arrest defendant who threw the packet away, but he (witness) saw that it contained money.

Defendant was sent to prison for three months with hard labour.

PEPS Banish BRONCHITIS

It is an awful feeling to be conscious of bronchitis tightening its grip on your chest, and the breathing becoming more and more obstructed by the accumulation of phlegm and mucus in the windpipe and throat.

Coughing can't be kept up long without injury to the tissues. Cough you must, though your eyes feel burning by the racking exertion, your head aches, and your chest is painful at the back, front and sides.

The first symptom of the acute form is tightness or soreness of the chest right behind the upper part of the breast bone, with a little hoarseness and tickling at the back of the throat, and with this is a very annoying hacking, dry cough which sets up inflammation.

POWERFUL MEDICINAL FUMES.

Bronchitis gets more distressing as winter approaches unless the sufferer adopts the proper treatment, which is supplied by Peps, the wonderful breathe-able remedy.

When the handy little Peps tablet is stripped of its silver jacket and placed in the mouth, powerful medicinal fumes are given off which impregnate the air we breathe with all the chest-strengthening virtues of the pine forest, and as this medicinal air is breathed down the windpipe (where liquid medicine cannot pass), the cure is at once begun.

The obstructive phlegm is loosened and expectorated from the bronchial tubes; breathing is made easy; and an end is quickly put to the chest-racking cough. Peps completely banish all the terrors of bronchitis.

PEPS are obtainable in sealed glass bottles of Chemists and Dispensaries everywhere. Direct from Agents—Messrs. Wakefield & Co. (China), Ltd., Shekwan Road, Shanghai.

PARIS FASHION NOTES.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT, ISABEL RAMSAY.]

PARIS, November 25th, 1925.

Miss C. Lowry, one of the best of clever overseas buyers that come over to Europe every year, passed through Paris this week, on her way to Brussels, and eventually London. During a chat I had with Miss Lowry, she told me of all the beautiful things she has been buying during the three months that she has been busy in these parts, and also revealed to me her impressions of present-day fashions, as they strike her after an absence from Europe of two years.

THE TWO-PIECE COSTUME.

"First, and most important of all," she began, "I must say that the characteristic about the present fashions which impressed me most is the part the two-piece costume, and ensemble, effects, generally, are playing. Why, tailormade are as dead as the crinoline, to such an extent has their place been taken by two-piece models. In fact, I grew quite tired looking at two-piece costumes, for they predominate in every big collection. Usually, the dress is made of some soft material such as crepe de Chine, crepe Georgette or Romain or printed chiffon, and the coat is made of a heavier material, but always lined with material similar to that of the dress. This last is a most rigid rule.

"Then, there are the two-piece models for evening wear, quite the smartest things I have seen. The skirt is made of lame, satin or crepe Georgette, fitted with godets or pleats so as to flare out very much, and the jumper top is made of lame, chiffon, crepe Georgette or embroidered or beaded material, but always a material different to that of the skirt is chosen. Endless changes may be rung in with such a costume, for with one skirt, any number of jumper tops can be worn. The circular note is still in evidence in most of the skirts and nearly all the lighter type of frocks I have seen show full, flowing lines. Ninon, crepe Georgette and crepe de Chine are still favourites for afternoon and evening dresses.

"Kasha is still good, both plain and printed, although I noticed a tendency to use kasha more as a trimming now, rather than as a material in itself. In the field of sports wear, for example, I have seen endless models in jersey de laine, trimmed with bands of kasha. Others, lighter in texture, were made of crepe de Chine, and this, also was trimmed with bands of kasha in a darker shade, or else in a different colour to match. Other models showed a skirt made of kasha and a jumper of jersey trimmed with kasha the same as that of the skirt. Others, again, showed the skirt of plain kasha, or kasha in one colour, and the jumper in a figured kasha to match. Sports wear, by the way, has undergone a change, since my last visit, and in place of the knitted sports garment that was all the rage a little while ago, there are now chiefly two-piece suits, featuring a skirt, usually very short and pleated, and a loose jumper top. To wear with such a suit, there is always the inevitable little pull-on felt hat.

EVENING WEAR.

"For evening wear, beaded dresses are still considered smart, except that there is a big difference in the type of beads used for this purpose. In place of the ordinary crystal and metal beads, embroiderers are now using sequins, diamante, rhinestone, bat wing, coloured stones, iridescent beads that have the changing colours of opals in them, and spangles. The effect, of course, is ever so much more handsome, if a little heavier. For outdoor wear, I have found that reps, fancy and plain, is as fashionable as any other material. Velvet, of course, is being worn a great deal, but I doubt if it will last till the Spring. Another material that is being made up into smart models, is Shetland tweed. With top coats, as with every other type of clothes, the idea is always to carry out an ensemble effect as much as possible, so that a coat is invariably designed to match the dress that is to be worn with it; and, always, the lining of the coat is chosen to match the dress, whenever possible, of the same material, so that, when the wearer throws open her coat, a perfectly harmonious effect is created. All top coats are heavily trimmed with fur, in fact all types of coats show fur added in some way or another as a trimming. And, here again, I noticed a detail that is a most interesting feature of present-day fashions, and that is, the extraordinary way in which Parisian furriers are imitating the more expensive kinds of fur in cheaper ones such as rabbit, musquash and opossum. One of the most successful imitations, I consider is that of sable and mink made out of simple American opossum dyed and treated in such a clever way that it is almost impossible at first sight to tell the real from the imitation. Rabbit and hare are being treated to imitate chinchilla, also most effectively.

PRINCE AND WEMBLEY.

£1,000 TO HELP TO MEET LOSS. SHARING GUARANTORS' BURDENS

The Prince of Wales has contributed £1,000 towards the cost of liquidating the British Empire Exhibition in connection with the loss on which the guarantors have been called upon to make heavy payments.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, M.P., who is chairman of the committee which is winding up the affairs of the exhibition, received the Prince's cheque accompanied by the following letter:—

DEAR MR. THOMAS,

For many months past I have been very much concerned about the financial results of the British Empire Exhibition. As the first president of the exhibition, I took the chair at the meeting held at the Mansion House before I left for India in 1921.

Knowing that a sum of at least £1,000,000 had to be produced to enable these preliminary works of the exhibition to be started, I personally appealed to the public to guarantee that sum.

In response to my appeal a number of public spirited firms and individuals came forward. Sufficient guarantees were forthcoming, and as a result it was possible to hold the exhibition and to make it the great success from an Imperial point of view, which it undoubtedly was.

By their timely support the guarantors earned the gratitude of the whole of our Commonwealth of Nations. The Exhibition has, however, resulted in a considerable financial loss, the greater part of which must be borne by the guarantors.

They are, I know, fulfilling their promises in the same generous spirit in which they gave them, and I now write to ask you, to express to them my sincere appreciation of the part they have played.

It is my desire to share, in some small degree, the burden they have to shoulder. I therefore enclose my cheque for £1,000.—Believe me, Yours sincerely,

EDWARD P.

NO OBLIGATION TO HELP.

Mr. Thomas, in an interview when he communicated this letter, said:

"This is a magnificent and spontaneous act. The Prince is not a guarantor, and is, therefore, under no obligation. But he made an appeal to others to become guarantors, and this is his method of showing that he does not want to escape responsibility himself."

"On behalf of the liquidators I am thanking him for it."

FASHIONABLE COLOURS.

"As to colours that are fashionable, if I were to start naming them, I would never finish. All the greens are good, likewise the browns, and this means that endless range of shades from champagne and beige to tete de negre. Bordeaux and burgundy are shades that are much in evidence now, and by these, I mean a shade that is more like the colour of beetroot than anything else.

THE LATEST IN HATS.

"As to hats, the little pull-on shape is more to the fore than ever. The only change I have noted is in the matter of material. Whereas, there was nothing but felt to be seen a little while ago, there is now any amount of velvet shapes about, particularly stitched and fancy velvets. Generally there is no other trimming beyond that afforded by the material itself or the stitchery worked on it, than ornament stuck through in front or at the side at a smart angle. Little animals, and quaint little figures, fashioned of tiny brilliants or of marquise are still the rage for trimming simple millinery of this type."

THE RETURN OF TAFFETAS.

"One important detail I noticed was the return of taffetas. Everywhere, I have seen dresses of taffetas, reversible taffetas for the most part, made with very full skirts. In fact, there is a rage just at present for this material for evening wear, and for this type of full-skirted dress."

EVANING COATS.

"For evening coats, those of the reversible type are also very much worn. I have seen gorgeous evening coats and capes made of lame and lined with velvet so that they could be worn either side out. These are as practical as they are effective, because they can be made to harmonise with several evening gowns, merely by changing from one side to another, and thus enable the wearer to carry out the ensemble note that is so essential to good dressing these days."

NEW BAGS.

"In the way of novelties, what have impressed me most are the new bags. They are called the 'Mistinguet' bags, and are fitted along the top with a fastening that is just like those you see on tobacco pouches. By means of a clip attached to a tab you open your bag by sliding it along from one end of the bag to another, and to shut it, you slide it back again. I have seen nothing more fascinating for a long while."

"As to jewellery, pearls are still worn a great deal, but the latest novelty I have seen is a bracelet made of huge links, in gold, silver or platinum, studded at intervals with big stones, coloured ones mostly, such as onyx, turquoise, topaz, amethyst and the like. It is now many seasons since the bracelet played a definite part in the fashion world, but, with the appearance of this new bracelet, one can safely say it has come back with vengeance, and to stay."

THE DIRECTORY covers the notable events, ports and cities of the Far East, from Netherlands India to Siberia, in which Europeans reside. Not only is the Directory as full and complete in each case as it can be made, but each Colony, Port or Settlement is prefaced by a DESCRIPTION, carefully revised each year, the majority of which will serve as an accurate GUIDE for the future, giving every detail in connection with the places, their History, Topography, etc. The information in these Descriptions, consisting of a hundred interesting articles, packed with facts concisely set out, and containing statistics of the TRADE of each Country and port, would alone suffice to fill a large volume. The Book is printed from New Type specially reserved for the purpose, and uniformity in every arrangement greatly facilitates reference.

Besides the usual Alphabetical List of Firms, the Directory gives the GLASSIFIED LISTS of TRADES and PROFESSIONS at the larger Commercial Centres.

The ALPHABETICAL LIST of RESIDENTS in the Far East contains the names of over 20,000 FOREIGNERS.

arranged, with the initials as well as the Surnames, in strictly Alphabetical Order, so that any name can be found instantly.

THE MAPS AND PLANS

of the principal ports of the Far East have been engraved by one of the most eminent Firms in Great Britain and are annually corrected and brought up to date.

THE CHRONICLE covers the notable events together with the Texts of all the most important Treaties concluded with the countries of Eastern Asia, the various Customs Tariffs, Trade Regulations, Chambers of Commerce, Scales of Commissions, Consular and Court Fees, Hongkong Stamps Duties, Signal Codes, Chinese Festivals, Tables of Money Weights and Measures and other Commercial Information. It is published at the Office of the "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."

A CHRISTIAN EMPIRE. THE TASK OF THE MISSIONARY. WIDENING OF SCOPE.

[BY THE BISHOP OF SALISBURY.]

The term "missionary" has received a new connotation within our life-time. Thirty years ago Lord Salisbury told an audience at Exeter Hall that missionaries were not popular at the Foreign Office; and that was the view held at the time by the average layman everywhere. Since then, however, a considerable quickening has taken place in our moral sense towards the backward races, especially those in the British Commonwealth.

The mandatory clauses of the League of Nations Covenant are symptoms of this change, and the Church Congress held at Eastbourne last October, though on a smaller scale, offered a most significant illustration of the same thing. The subject discussed was "World Problems and Christianity," and the calibre and experience of the great public servants who delivered addresses, and the wide interest taken in the Press, very clearly indicated the importance of the subject in the public mind. The change is mainly due to the development of a world situation in which the value—indeed, the necessity—of the spiritual forces of life has been thrown into striking and peremptory relief. The new movements in Asia and Africa, political, economic, intellectual, educational, though full of promise, are as yet quite ambiguous in their moral tendency. The issue depends on the development of the best ideals of human character and human relationships to control the impatience, the headstrong wilfulness, and the concentration upon self which are ever characteristic dangers of adolescence, whether in nations or in individuals. And since Christianity more than any other force in the world is able to create right character and right relationships, men's thoughts have turned to Christianity and its teachers with a new interest. It is quite easy to over-estimate the importance of this change of view. We who seek to preach Christianity everywhere are moved to do so not because of its admitted practical value to human happiness and progress, but because we believe it to be eternal truth. Nevertheless we welcome the changed attitude.

THE FIELD SURVEYED.

In these circumstances it may be of interest to survey the field and to ask how far the spiritual agencies of Britain are rising to their task; and the first thing to notice is the astounding advance revealed by the mere numerical statistics of Christian missions. In the year 1800, throughout the whole area stretching from the West African Coast right across to China, and the East Indies, and from Russia and Siberia in the north to the Indian Ocean in the south, there were not a dozen missionaries of the Reformed Churches. In those days, with a few notable exceptions, there was no sense of missionary obligation throughout English or American Christendom. This was probably less true of the Roman Catholics, but even their activities, now so strong and world-wide, were at this period comparatively weak. A hundred years later, at the close of the nineteenth century, 15,000 missionaries of the Reformed Churches were at work in Africa and the East, and, though statistics are not available, we may conclude with certainty that the Roman Catholic missionaries were at least trebled in number. To-day the total number of missionaries of the Reformed Churches in the mission field is no fewer than 30,000, with a communicants' roll of 1,500,000 and a roll of baptized adherents numbering many millions more; and every year the rate of increase accelerates. In India, Burma, and Ceylon to-day there are over 5,700 missionaries, of whom 2,700 are British and about an equal number American. In Egypt there are 354 missionaries, of whom 236 are American and 102 are British. In the Sudan there are 80 Protestant missionaries, of whom 35 are American and 32 are British. In the rest of British territory in Africa there are nearly 4,000 Protestant missionaries, of whom over 2,000 are British and 604 American.

It will be seen that the American missionary work in British territory (conducted mainly by the Methodist Episcopal Church, the American Presbyterians, Baptists, and Congregationalists) bulks very large. Indeed, throughout these regions America is making a very noble contribution, by its width of outlook and its strong financial support, to the spiritual development of the people. But British Christendom is very active also. The great missions of the Church Missionary Society in Uganda and Kenya Colony, and of the Church of Scotland in Kenya Colony and Nyasaland, are known and respected by all visitors to East Africa; while in Tanganyika Territory, Nyasaland, and Northern Rhodesia the Universities' Mission to Central Africa, and in the South Africa the Methodists, the Dutch Reformed Church, the London Missionary Society, and the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, are doing a great work; and the activities of the Church Missionary Society, the Wesleyans, and the Scottish Churches are not less important in British West Africa. In India the great universities are again prominent in their mission to Delhi and Calcutta and to Chota Nagpur, while the Church Missionary Society and the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel share the work with the missionary societies of the Free Churches in the Punjab, in Bengal, in Madras, and a score of other areas. In the mandated British territories of the Pacific and in islands under British rule the London Missionary Society has done a truly noble work for many years, while the Australian and New Zealand Boards of Missions represent a more recent but growing contribution to those areas from the Anglican Church.

A REMARKABLE CHANGE.

With this very large development during the past century and a quarter a not less remarkable change has been witnessed in the scope of missionary work. The missionary no longer considers himself a messenger whose commission is at an end as soon as his spiritual message is delivered. He finds himself responsible for the promotion of human well-being in every department of life. He is called upon to doctor the bodies of his people, to educate their children, to lead and advise in local self-government, and, in general, to be a sort of spiritual lubricant greasing the wheels of the adolescent human society. "Homo sum" is his motto, "humani nihil a me alienum puto."

And this widening of scope has led to new and improved relations between the missionary and the secular authorities. All over the world Governments have found by experience the value of missionary co-operation. In the Pacific, where trader and missionary a generation ago were at bitter feud, there is now cordial co-operation between missionaries, traders, and Government officials in the development of the native population. In India the old mutual suspicion has given place to hearty co-operation and frequent cordial expressions of appreciation by Government officials, from the Viceroy downwards. But perhaps the most conspicuous illustration of the new co-operation is to be found in Africa. Here missionary leaders have clearly seen that the development of the African races demands education interpreted in a very wide sense. For instance, the epoch-making work of the Phelps-Stokes Commission has set a stamp of broad humanity upon all the educational work of the missionary agencies throughout Africa; and their aim is not merely to train the mind, but to develop the whole nation in which they are working, and to supply their educational needs in the light of the religious, social, hygienic, and economic conditions of the country. It is not surprising, therefore, that the Colonial Office, in responding to the insistent demands of Africa for education, has turned to the missionaries for help.

Nevertheless "there remains very much land yet to be possessed." In their widened outlook and in the appreciation of their efforts by the Governments of the British Commonwealth the missionary agencies can indeed show a very remarkable development. Yet we cannot claim to have gripped the heart of the problem. In spite of all this advance, the challenge of the world to the Christian Church is more insistent and peremptory than ever. The issues at stake will not wait upon the leisure of Christendom, but will certainly be settled apart from the influence of Christianity if Christendom fails to seize the present opportunity. It is for this reason that the Church of England, acting through its Missionary Council, has ordered the preparation of four great reports, on Africa, India, the Far East, and Moslem lands respectively, with a view to a definite statement in terms of personal agents and money of the demands laid upon the Church of our generation. These reports are to be presented at a great Convention in London next January.

The fact of the matter is that the Christian Churches are handicapped at every turn by the apathy and reluctance of the Christian nation behind them. Beyond question they are doing a great work; but, when all is said, the scale is utterly inadequate to the demands. If Christian England were really true to its beliefs, if only Christian citizens would back their beliefs with practical support, then the whole colour of human progress might be changed and the Christian Church of our generation might stand out, in accordance with her true nature and origin, as the supreme constructive element in the world of tomorrow; the standing witness among the nations to the hidden presence, the unfailing purpose and the changeless Love which guides human affairs.—Times.

INSURING BOYS' EDUCATION.

21 PER TERM PREMIUM.

HEADMASTERS AND COMPULSION.

"A scheme of insurance, prepared by the Educational Facilities Association, to meet the cases of boys whose responsible parents die while they are at school was discussed at the Headmasters' Conference at Shrewsbury School last month. Introducing the subject, Dr. C. A. Allington, headmaster of Eton, said the proposal was that on payment of a premium of £1 per term £40 a term would be guaranteed from the time of the father's death until the boy was 18. The scheme was based on the case of a boy who entered a school just before the age of 14, and also rested on the assumption that in any school which undertook it it would be optional for boys at present attending but compulsory for new entrants.

In the course of a discussion the opinion was expressed that the premium was much too high for the risk involved, one headmaster declaring that from £5 to £10 would enable his governors to give the benefits of the scheme. The idea of compulsion was also objected to. The conference agreed that the action of headmasters should be confined to submitting the proposal to parents and putting them in touch with the Educational Facilities Association.

WORLD'S WONDER.

AMAZING RESULTS AT RUGBY WIRELESS STATION.

A London report dated December 12th says:—Amazing success attended the official tests of Rugby's huge wireless station operating on a wave length of 18,200 (17) metres. The first trial was in broad daylight, on Thursday, and the results were most gratifying. America advised that the Rugby signals came through extremely well, and were easily ten times stronger than those from Leamfield, which hitherto was Britain's best station. The report from South Africa said Rugby was easily the most distinct station in Europe. Since Thursday the test signals have ranged over the whole 24 hours, and the officials were delighted to learn that to-day's pre-dawn signals were picked up with amazing clarity in Australia and New Zealand. The success was all the more surprising because only half of the 12 masts and only half of the bewildering array of three miles of aerials were in use. The remainder of the aerials at present are being devoted to two-way telephony tests to America, as a result of which, it is hoped, a London subscriber soon will be able to call up a number in New York. Meanwhile it is thought there is no limit to the Rugby station's possibilities for swift and accurate wireless transmission throughout the world.

A MASTER OSCILLATOR.

It is revealed that the secret of the success achieved is the creation of a master oscillator, produced by the British Post Office's Research Department, whereby the wave length keeps its own path, and overcomes the atmospheres. This is especially important in the case of traffic to Australia, and it is considered that it will permit of ships being in constant touch with the Rugby station from any point of Australia, and also continuously on the voyage en route to London. One of the great advantages of the Rugby service will be the fact that the steamers on the Australian run will be no longer dependent on the news from the German station at Neuen, which hitherto has outdistanced Leamfield, by thousands of miles.

The Head of the Post Office Radio Department, in a statement, said the Rugby transmission would soon be in public service, and the wireless would then supersede the cable for ordinary communications around the world.

Sir Robert Donald, writing in the Daily Telegraph, states that the range-testing stage has been reached at Rugby wireless station, which, early in the new year, will be sending messages to reach every ship on the seven seas and the remotest corner of the Dominions. He also states that within a few weeks the station will be experimenting with America in two-way telephony.

The 12 masts of the super-power stations at Rugby are each 320ft. high, while the aerials are about 1½ miles long and half a mile wide. The station, which has a power of 1,000 kilowatts, occupies a site 1½ square miles in extent.

PEARY AND NORTH POLE.

HIS DISCOVERY CLAIM CHALLENGED.

Is the North Pole still undiscovered? asks the Observer. Admiral Peary's claim to have "nailed the Stars and Stripes to the Pole" on September 6th, 1909, has been disputed in America on several occasions, and now in the New York Independent, Mr. William E. Shea, who is described by the editor as "a student of Arctic exploration," sets forth in an article his reasons for believing that Peary did not reach the Pole.

Peary, who was accompanied on the last stage of the expedition by only Ross Marvin, who was drowned, the Negro, Hansen, and "a handful of untutored Eskimos," spoke of the "almost unimaginable unevenness and roughness" of the surface of the Polar sea, and yet, Mr. Shea points out, Peary travelled under the handicap of these "unimaginable" conditions 57 miles a day.

This (says Mr. Shea) he claimed to have done over a course that both he and Ellsworth described as infernal. Fifty-seven miles a day for eight days for Peary, half a mile a day for four days for Ellsworth. Fifty-seven miles a day for Peary with four men on the Polar ice; eight miles a day when his expedition (at the start) was at its strongest. These things require explanation. Till they are cleared up Peary's claim cannot be taken seriously.

Mr. Shea also comments on the extraordinary attitude of silence which Peary adopted on his return from his journey. Here he quotes from Peary's own words as wrung from him by a Congressional Committee in 1911, when Congress was considering whether or not to bestow honours upon him:

Mr. Roberts: Captain Peary, when you returned from your dash, the first people you saw were those of the ship? Captain Peary: Yes, sir.

Mr. Roberts: You, of course, told them of the trip.

Mr. Peary: No, I did not; I did not go into any details in regard to the trip.

Mr. Roberts: Did you tell them you had reached the Pole?

Mr. Peary: I told Captain Bartlett; no one else.

Mr. Shea says that for the sake of truth in history, if for no other reason, all the facts bearing on the question should be brought to light now while many witnesses who can offer first-hand evidence are alive.

BUSY POSTAL DAYS.

250,000,000 PACKAGES IN 4 DAYS.

52,000,000 MORE THAN A YEAR AGO.

Christmas postal records have been broken this year. In four days the Post Office throughout the country dealt with 240,000,000 letters and post-cards and 20,000,000 parcels, comprising the first part of the inland Christmas mail, and they were ready to handle the same amount again before Christmas morning.

This volume of traffic is one-fifth more than it was a year ago, and seven times greater than at other periods of the year. Unoccupied shops, church halls, schools, and in some cases empty houses served as temporary post offices in London districts where existing arrangements could not cope with the thousands of letters and parcels that poured in every hour.

In addition to regular employees 8,000 temporary helpers, mostly unemployed ex-Service men, were working in the metropolis as postmen, sorters, porters, or van drivers. London's fleet of mail vehicles was doubled, and there were approximately 1,500 of all sorts in use. Nearly all the 600 tradesmen's cars, lorries, and horse-drawn wagons and drays hired for the season were larger than ordinary mail-vans, so that transport facilities are estimated to have been tripled.

"DEAD" LETTERS.

When a reporter visited the great sorting office at Mount Pleasant, E.C., the officials of the Dead-Letter Department produced bundles of children's missives which they had been unable to deliver.

It would have been thought that nothing could be simpler than to find the persons to whom these letters were addressed: FATHER CHRISTMAS, SANTA CLAUS, Sun-alley, Red Cloak Manor, Rainbow-square, Hollyberry-avenue, Cloudbank, Sledgerton, Fairyland. Everywhere.

Across the face of both these envelopes was stamped in ugly black letters the words "Insufficiently Addressed." Scores of similar letters had been as ruthlessly dealt with.

One child had sent a communication to Peter-Pan in Never Never Land, but a postal clerk with a serious mind had written across it in red ink "Try Sir J. M. Barrie, Adelphi, W.C. 2." or Miss Dorothy Dickson, Shaftesbury Theatre. Neither of these places is in Never Never Land.

LITTLE GIRL'S APPEAL.

From Bermondsey a little girl addressed a sweet letter to Father Christmas asking for a necklace and crackers and mentioned that she had been unable to stamp it because there was little money in the home. The Post Office, however, has affixed a large mauve stamp and opposite the name of Father Christmas has stamped the words "3d. to pay on delivery."

In accordance with the regulations of the department all these letters are opened, and small gifts which the senders have enclosed for Santa Claus or stamps they have put in for a reply are gratefully returned to them with an official announcement that delivery has not been possible.

The public now wrap parcels so securely that there is scarcely any work for the "hospital" where loose or damaged packages are repaired.

MOTOR-FATALITIES IN U.S.

In the United States last year 15,528 people were killed by motor-car accidents—another world's record. This total does not include deaths from collisions between trains and motor-cars, which added 1,532. The death-rate by motor accident for the entire country in 1924 is placed at 15.7 per 100,000 of the population, as compared with 14.9 in 1923, 12.5 in 1922, and 11.5 in 1921. California headed the list of States with 32 killed per 100,000.
